

Mayor cuts city wages to 1980 level

By GARY SCHNEIDER
of the Press-Record

"We have had salary increases. We have kept pace with the local industries. Now we have reached a point where we can't any longer and we are biting the bullet," Mayor Paul Schuler told the Granite City City Council and approximately 150 persons at a special meeting of the city council Tuesday night.

The mayor's idea of "biting the bullet" may involve more pain than many of the city employees and residents are willing to accept, the aldermen indicated as they discussed a four-point plan presented by Schuler. One point, the possibility of a utility tax being imposed, is addressed in a separate story in today's Press-Record.

Effectively, immediately, by executive order, the salaries of all city employees, including the mayor's, are rolled back to the April 30, 1980, level.

Negotiated wage increases due in November and next March, are cancelled and there is a hiring freeze in all departments, the mayor announced.

Asked if the aldermen could stop the rollback, Schuler stated that im-

Executive order also places freeze on hiring, but retains manpower levels in emergency services plementation of the package "is an administrative decision and will be implemented, period, unless someone tells me I can't do it."

Later, he stated, "It is an administrative decision to be made in the mayor's office. You don't have anything to say about it. If I don't sign the check, it doesn't get cashed, period."

He said he believes the three mandated measures alone will save the city nearly a half-million dollars in the current fiscal year.

Alderman Paul Ray Bowler, chairman of the council's finance committee, estimated that the savings will be even higher than that, the rollback alone would save nearly a half-million dollars.

In addition to announcing his executive order returning salaries to the 1980 level, Schuler announced that 20 percent manpower decreases, or 30 positions, will be made in all departments except the police, fire, ambulance and sewage treatment plant employees, Schuler said.

He said the remaining departments are vital to the health and safety of our citizens and their property and a 20 percent layoff would cripple them to the extent they would be unable to properly function.

"The sewage treatment plant is a

Venice schools lose Title VI funds; 5 teachers affected

By VALERIE EVENDEN
of the Press-Record

The Venice School District, along with most other districts in Illinois, has lost all funds allocated through the Title VI program. It was reported at Monday night's meeting of the Venice Board of Education.

At least five teachers in the Venice public schools will be affected by elimination of Title VI projects, according to Superintendent of Schools Robert N. Vickers.

The Venice district received $157,497 in Title VI aid in the 1980-81 fiscal year, which ended Tuesday, June 30, and more than $1.8 million since the program was inaugurated in the 1974-75 school year.

Over the seven-year period, the funds financed such basic and pilot programs as reading, math, science, career education, counseling, community-school relations and human relations.

All five faculty members affected by the cut in funds have seniority, over other teachers employed by the Venice district at Venice-Lincoln Technical Center. The superintendent explained, "Elimination of the funding could result in the five Title VI employees replacing five or six teachers currently at the adult vocational school through a 'bumping' process, Supt. Vickers noted.

Venice lost about $200,000 last year in Title VI money which provided the remedial reading and math programs for pupils.

Althea A. Cross, Title VI Project MICRO director, addressed the school board Monday night prior to its official meeting, rescheduled from June 22.

Mrs. Cross reported Charlie T. Tuck, adult education program specialist for the U.S. Department of Education, called last week to notify her the appropriations had been cut.

President Reagan signed a bill June 5 allocating a total of $33 million for the nationwide program, previously funded to $107 million, Mrs. Cross was advised.

"As a result funding was possible in Illinois only for those districts who are in Category I (districts, desegregated less than three years), Category II (districts desegregated less than six years) and one district in Category III (districts desegregated more than six years).

"The latter district will receive only partially funding," Mrs. Cross explained.

Venice School District falls into Category III.

He did not elaborate on his comments about the other districts, but said he may have some word at the board's next meeting July 13.

Rankin asked the board to "consider any personnel shifts very carefully" and to review the process and attempt to come to some agreement before the changes are made.

The adult education and vocational school administrator also requested the board for a reclassification of the director's position at the center.

"In light of the different kinds of responsibilities which reflect more on the superintendent's type of job, rather than the principal," he said in making the request.

Tolliver suggested Rankin provide the board a job description prior to consideration of the request.

Rankin noted the center currently is in its 14th year of operation and has been responsible for bringing more than $1 million into the Venice School District.

The center is financed with federal and state funds and administered by the Venice district.

Federal financing for the Adult Basic Education program has been established for the year ahead, with preparations in the works for 1983, Rankin stated.

Both Rankin and Tolliver commented about last Thursday's "Impressive graduation ceremonies at the adult center."

The event was attended by William Reynolds, director of the Illinois Department of Adult Education, who spent most of the day inspecting the school, holding conferences with the Debate city utility tax proposal

A proposal by Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler to impose a utility tax to help bring the city out of its financial difficulties will apparently have a difficult time being accepted by the city's aldermen, according to statements made at Tuesday night's Granite City Council meeting.

Five aldermen directly stated at the meeting that they will vote against any kind of utility tax and the other aldermen indicated they are unconvinced that such a tax will be necessary.

At the suggestion of Alderman Mac Warfield of the Sixth Ward, the council requested that Mayor Schuler appoint a "blue ribbon committee" to meet with the aldermen to determine what the effect of a utility tax may be. Schuler said he would appoint such a committee, made up of representatives from all segments of the community.

The committee will act as an advisory panel to the city council and should report its findings before a decision is made on a new tax. Schuler also urged the aldermen to consider other forms of taxation or ways of increasing the city's income, if they will not accept a utility tax.

So far, the city council has a four-point program Tuesday night to turn around the mounting debt in the city treasury. The program includes a freeze on hiring, cancelling the negotiated raises scheduled for November and March, asking all city employees to accept a cut in their salaries to April 30, 1980, level and imposing a utility tax of some sort to bring additional money into the city's general fund.

The proposal on manpower cuts and salary rollbacks is detailed in another story in today's Press-Record.

Sedlack Funeral Home, Seventh Street and Madison Avenue, Madison, was vacated Tuesday by operator Bob Thomas, who then assumed operation of Lahey Funeral Home, 501 Madison Avenue, from Mary Lahey.

Thomas said he vacated the Sedlack facility because of pending litigation in Madison County Circuit Court, but he has completed acquisition of the building and the business at Lahey Funeral Home. It was announced June 11 that Thomas was planning for purchase of the Lahey business.

Mary Lahey and Lucy Lucido have announced their intentions to retire from the business, but Mary Cromer of Sedlack has agreed to work for Thomas as managerial representative at Lahey Funeral Home.

Thomas, who also is involved in the ownership and operation of Mercer Mortuary, 1416 Niedringhaus Ave., and Bob Thomas Memorial Mortuary, 2205 Franklin Road, also commented, "We hope the transition from one location (Sedlack) to another (Lahey) and combining the two businesses will be a beneficial creation to the families served in the past and future."

Lahey Funeral Home has been a Madison institution since it was opened in August of 1906 by the Lahey family.

Louise Sedlack, who says she is the legal owner of the Sedlack Funeral Home building, told the Press-Record she has a contract with another party to operate the facility. Specific plans will be announced in the near future.

Leon Scroggins, attorney for Bob

Thomas, issued a public statement Tuesday on the status of pending court proceedings dealing with Sedlack Funeral Home.

Scroggins said that attorneys do not normally comment on pending litigation, but felt that since Louise Sedlack has been quoted in two previous newspaper articles, he felt it was proper to reply.

He said, "I was asked by the Lahey family to represent them in the pending litigation. We have a contract with the administrator of the estate of the late John Sedlack. 'The administrator, August Sedlack, was the proper party to contract with concerning the operation of the business.' Scroggins commented in his statement.

"That contract was presented to the

There is a feeling that many of the rank-and-file thought they might have been able to reach a contract agreement to end a strike and perhaps prevent the plant shutdown, Steele said Monday. The plant closed in 1980.

The deal was to end the strike for "an indefinite period," Steele said.

McClure, the governor's director of boards and commissions, said, "We need to do some investigation about his background." It was indicated there had been no background check, on the assumption that the appointment would be non-controversial.

McClure added, "There might be

July 4 festival opens at park for five days

By VALERIE EVENDEN
of the Press-Record

The 10th annual July 4 festival in Wilson Park opened last night and will continue through Sunday with the return of several popular attractions and some new features in the 22nd annual event.

A large-scale fireworks display will illuminate the night sky in the Quad Cities at 9 p.m. on Independence Day, Saturday, July 4th.

The midway is open today from 5 p.m. until 5 p.m. for a special "matinee" session when carnival rides are offered at the reduced rate of three for $1.

Tonight's activity on the midway and for concession booths resumes at 6 and ends at 11 p.m.

Also spotlighted today is a return presentation by "Stagecoach," a western-style group, beginning at 7:30 p.m. in the Wilson Park Rink Pavilion. Admission is free.

Friday's midway and concessions schedule will be from 6 p.m. until 11 p.m.

In a special appearance Friday at 7:30 p.m. are singing stars Ron Mahan and The Country Lads, performing in a country-western show "direct from Nashville."

No admittance will be charged those

RECRUIT TRAINEE

Navy Seaman Recruit Elmer L. Meyer Jr., son of Louise J. and Elmer L. Meyer, 5001 1/2 17th Roberts Ave., and 1620, Benton St., Madison, respectively, has completed recruit training at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill. During the eight-week training cycle, trainees studied general military subjects designed to prepare them for further academic and on-the-job training in one of the Navy's 85 basic occupational fields. Included in their studies were seamanship, close order drill, marksmanship and first aid. Personnel who complete this course of instruction are eligible for three hours of college credit in physical education and hygiene.

A young man and young woman were seen stealing the auto of Billy W. Johnson, 2928 2005 Dale Ave., from Niedrichs Avenue and Olive Street at 10:45 p.m. Saturday.

A witness said the couple first entered H & H Tavern and then returned outside, entered Johnson's auto and drove off on Niedrichs Ave., striking the parked pickup truck of Louis Verney, 2028 Benton St., before leaving the scene.

Johnson's auto was found abandoned at 20th Street and Rockwell at 4:30 a.m. Saturday, 12:30 a.m. Sunday. It had damage from the accident. Police said there were no keys in the car and the ignition did not appear to have been tampered with.

July 4 emphasis on public education as nation's strength

What keeps America strong?

It's a suitable question for the Fourth of July, and this year, in Minneapolis, over 10,000 Americans have what they regard as an answer: public education.

The 10,000 — Americans from every corner of the country — are coming to the July 4 at the 11th annual meeting of the National Education Association.

They've made "Public Education: America's Strength" their theme for the meeting.

The theme is as old as the nation. For more than 200 years, Americans have always recognized the importance of education to national strength and to freedom, a spokesman said this week.

"Knowledge is in every country the surest basis of public happiness," George Washington told Congress in 1790.

To the security of a free Constitution, it contributes in various ways: by convincing those who are entrusted with public office of the importance that every valuable end of government is best answered by the enlightened confidence of the people, and by teaching the people themselves to know and value their own rights.

Even before President Washington addressed himself to "teaching the people," and even before the Constitution was adopted in 1789, the generation of 1776 had committed federal government to public schools.

In the ordinance of 1787 that established the Northwest Territory — Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin and eastern Minnesota — Congress reinforced that concept.

Through the years, presidents have often initiated education programs, using the prestige of their office in the effort. In private correspondence, public addresses and messages to Congress, the record is filled with presidential interest in the advancement of public education, the spokesman pointed out.

"Many remember Thomas Jefferson's famous statement, 'If a nation expects to be ignorant and free, in a state of civilization, it expects what never was and never will be.'

Less well known is an excerpt from a letter Jefferson wrote to a friend in 1785.

"I am entirely engaged in endeavoring to affect the establishment of a general system of education in my native state."

Jefferson went on to cite the need for "elementary schools which shall give to each child a free, equalized, competent instruction" as part of a "triple basis" for education that would also include "colleges within a day's ride" and a state university.

Abraham Lincoln, in an 1832 address to his home county folk in Illinois, made a similar point.

"For my part," said Lincoln, "I desire to see the time when education — and by its means morality, sobriety, enterprise and industry — shall become much more general than at present."

Education is, he told his listeners, "the most important subject which we as a people are interested in."

Theodore Roosevelt, in a 1905 address to the National Education Association, declared: "The children, wherever they have been born, wherever their parents have been born, who are now living in this country side by side with another, will inevitably grow up having that sense of mutual sympathy and mutual respect which is absolutely indispensable for working out the problems that face us as citizens have before us."

Teddy Roosevelt's contemporaries, Woodrow Wilson, couldn't agree more.

"Without popular education," Wilson once said, "no government which rests upon popular action can long endure."

Added Franklin Roosevelt in a 1935 message to teachers: "It is your duty, no less than mine, to look after the welfare of the schoolroom to see that education provides strength, and security for those institutions we have treasured since we first established ourselves as a nation and shall continue everlastingly to cherish."

Jefferson went on to cite the need for "elementary schools which shall give to each child a free, equalized, competent instruction" as part of a "triple basis" for education that would also include "colleges within a day's ride" and a state university.

Abraham Lincoln, in an 1832 address to his home county folk in Illinois, made a similar point.

"For my part," said Lincoln, "I desire to see the time when education — and by its means morality, strength, and security for those institutions we have treasured since we first established ourselves as a nation and shall continue everlastingly to cherish."

Even before President Washington addressed himself to "teaching the people," and even before the Constitution was adopted in 1789, the generation of 1776 had committed federal government to public schools.

In the ordinance of 1787 that established the Northwest Territory — Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin and eastern Minnesota — Congress reinforced that concept.

Through the years, presidents have often initiated education programs, using the prestige of their office in the effort. In private correspondence, public addresses and messages to Congress, the record is filled with presidential interest in the advancement of public education, the spokesman pointed out.

"Many remember Thomas Jefferson's famous statement, 'If a nation expects to be ignorant and free, in a state of civilization, it expects what never was and never will be.'

Less well known is an excerpt from a letter Jefferson wrote to a friend in 1785.

"I am entirely engaged in endeavoring to affect the establishment of a general system of education in my native state."

Two charged at truck stop

Working under cover, a member of the Illinois State Police drove a tractor-trail truck into Gateway Truck Stop at about 8 p.m. Monday. The undercover officer was solicited for prostitution by two women who were then charged.

Carol Moore, 18, and Tanya Mead, 21, both of St. Louis, were charged with soliciting for prostitution. They were released after posting a $100 cash bond.

A spokesman for the Illinois State Police said they are checking all truck stops in an effort to halt this type of crime.

MOTORISTS' INJURED

Injuries were suffered by Martin Poletti, 59, of 2916 Oregon Ave. and Lois Holisinger, Granite City, R.R. Route Two, in a collision last week at Franklin Road and 123rd Street. There was damage to the front of the westbound auto and the left side of his southbound car. An ambulance and two tow trucks were sent to the scene.

GARAGE BURGLARY

Alvin Boyer, 2949 Bern Ave., at 1205 a.m. when he returned after being out of town, discovered that his garage had been burglarized. Items taken included a tool box and tools valued at $700, fishing equipment valued at $300, and a three-cylinder Coleman stove valued at $45.

Another pro-union writer is fired at Granite City Journal

The Granite City Journal fired another one of its reporters Monday, bringing to five the number dismissed in attempts to organize the free press's employees under the St. Louis Newspaper Guild began.

Victoria "Tori" Whitehead, a writer who had worked for the Journal and government events, done feature articles and recently covered the Granite City Council for the Journal, was dismissed Monday by Editor Alice Curless-Gibson. Miss Whitehead said she was told by the editor that her firing was "a regulatory action," and Miss Whitehead believes the "retaliation" is in return for her activities on behalf of the union.

She also personally served a formal request on Granite City Journal Publishers, Rod Sanders, Monday afternoon demanding nearly a month's pay she said is owed to her. Sanders refused to issue her a check, it is contended.

She said the newspaper paid her $12.50 per story for writing news from their meetings. "They owe me for 10 meetings in June. It's only $125, but I earned it and I want it," she told the Press-Record.

Miss Whitehead said her vote in the Guild election at the Journal June 23 is being challenged by the company, which contends she was not an employee, but only served as a news "striker" for the free press. She also worked for a St. Louis paper. Shortly before the Guild election, she said, the company gave her permission to write for a St. Louis newspaper, stopped issuing her regular company paychecks and started paying her out of her pension from the petty cash fund. She indicated to others at that time that she felt Sanders was attempting to change her status with the newspaper to keep her vote from being counted.

Seek new ways to solve student behavior problems

Student behavior or "discipline" still tops the list of problems teachers must find new ways to solve in the '80s, according to Leslie Mehling, program development specialist and education professor at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

But instead of carrying a bigger stick, Wheling and a group of Cahokia teachers are trying new methods through personnel development.

In a workshop at SIUE this week, the group came up with some new answers on behavior, one of a number of problems they face in improving the total school climate. The teachers invited a panel of 10 students and parents to judge the results.

2 injured on cycle

"We wanted to come up with solutions that would work and make sense to the students," Wheling said. "That's the unique part of the program. We use parents and high school students as consultants. They let us know if the teachers' solutions are effective."

Along with ways to improve behavior, Wheling said the Cahokia teachers used the inquiry model in personal development to find ways to improve other problems, such as reading, literature and personalized education.

The successful ideas that pass the consultants' scrutiny will be shared with more classrooms in the Cahokia district and with other schools outside.

Participants in the workshop, taught by SIUE and Teacher Corps staff, is part of a five-year collaborative effort of the Cahokia School District, SIUE and the Cahokia community to make schools a better place to be, Wheling said. The results will be more learning and more satisfaction for both the teachers and the students, he said.

The program, funded this year under a $94,000 grant from the U.S. Office of Education, is directed by Ruges Freeman through the SIUE Teacher Corps. It is the third year of the five-year project.

Chouteau halts limb pickups

Chouteau limb pickups in Franklin Township will end on Friday, July 10, according to Ted Eberhardt, highway commissioner for the county.

Eberhardt explained that due to the rainy season this spring and summer he could not move weeds and repair highways in the area and would not resume these projects.

The service of picking up tree limbs for the residents was done in the past as a courtesy when the township had manpower enough to use for the extra work. But since the manpower program has been discontinued there is not enough employees to continue the regular work schedule and extra service, Eberhardt added.

Fire call debts still not paid

BY LISA LUTZ
of the Press-Record

Questions of when the city will be paid for the fire calls to the unincorporated area of Venice Township arose at the Venice City Council meeting Tuesday night.

In December of 1980, the township agreed to pay the city approximately $14,500 for the fire calls which were made in 1979 and 1980. An agreement between the two entities stipulated that the bill would be paid in monthly installments. At that time, the township formally guaranteed payment. All Venice Township trustees were present at that meeting.

Witnesses contend that Bingel's hub failed to stop completely at the stop sign on Cleveland Boulevard and rolled into the intersection in front of the cycle. Bingel was issued a ticket charging him with failure to yield the right-of-way.

"We can guarantee payment in full within the next six months," Township Attorney Nick Vasileff told those present at the 1980 meeting.

Although the township promised full payment by June 1, 1981, the bill has not been paid.

At Tuesday night's Venice City Council meeting, Alderman John Ervin asked Mayor Tyrone Echols if there was any problem in paying off the debt. Larry Hartman, the city's attorney, told the council members that he has spoken to Vasileff, who indicated that the money could not come from the township's federal revenue sharing fund.

Venice Township Supervisor Christ Pashoff told the Press-Record that, "They (the city) will be paid by the end of the month. The money is in the bank." He contended that there was no written agreement with the city.

When asked why the bills were not paid in June, the December agreement stipulated, Pashoff commented, "we didn't pay them," declining to explain why the city has not already been paid as promised.

Pashoff also contended that no city council member has talked to him about the issue.

The township allegedly owes the city approximately $16,500, it was indicated at the meeting. "I think we should meet with the township people," Echols told the aldermen. A meeting is tentatively scheduled for July 7.

The city had threatened to delete service from the unincorporated area, but there is no record of discontinuation of service.

City Treasurer J. Alan Gardner stated, "They (the township) never intended to pay us." The money is apparently not in the township's budget, he indicated.

It was also noted that no payment has been received from a fire to which the Venice Fire Department responded in April, in an unincorporated area of Naslund Township.

Judge Thomas Hildebrand ordered the fire department by telephone, under the

Although the aesthetic qualities of buildings are usually associated with completed structures, the Southern Illinois Builders Association is interested in obtaining photographs demonstrating the unique, creative and refreshing views of construction in progress.

SIBA will hold a photo contest in hopes that both professionals and camera buffs will locate these construction projects within Southern Illinois. A total of 11 prizes will be awarded in the following manner:

Grand prizes $250; Five awards for overall excellence, each individual to receive $100. There will be five honorable mentions, with an award of $50 to each.

Only photos of projects taken within the following 39-square mile area by SIBA will be accepted: St. Clair, Madison, Monroe, Calhoun, Greene, Jersey, Macoupin, Montgomery, Bond, Fayette, Effingham, Clinton, Marion, Clay, Jasper, Crawford, Richland, Lawrence, Wayne, Edwards, Wabash, Washington, Jefferson, St. John, Perry, Franklin, Hamilton, White, Jackson, Williamson, Saline, Gallatin, Union, Johnson, Pope, Hardin, Alexander, Pulaski and Massac.

Photographs submitted should be black and white only, a minimum of five inches by seven inches and a maximum of 11 inches by 14 inches, unmounted and can include both traditional photography and photo utilizing experimental techniques.

Photographers wishing to enter must submit up to five entries each. The entry should be individually packaged (one photo per envelope, all five may be enclosed in one larger envelope) and must include the name, address, telephone number and age of

Such information must be specific enough to include the exact location, project name and the company performing the work. All photos must have attached (or on back) a statement that they are the work and property of the photographer submitting it.

Entries should be of construction projects (other than residential), photographed between July and Oct. 1. Deadline is Oct. 9 and late entries will not be accepted.

All photographs become the property of the Southern Illinois Builders Association and rights for publication of entries must be afforded to the SIBA. Winning entries may be published in local publications and the SIBA's official publication, the Builders Construction News.

Judging is based upon craftsmanship, originality, creativity and communication of idea.

All entries should be forwarded to the Southern Illinois Builders Association, 7623 West Main St., Belleville, Ill. 62223.

POSTAL SERVICE
Shirley Whitehead, 2903 Kirkpatrick Homes, told police today that she found a package containing $284 in cash, about $127 worth of food stamps and her wallet containing identification, credit cards and money she had been stolen from her house within the previous 10 days. A witness told police that a 25-year-old woman had been seen entering the apartment on June 16, the first time through a window and the second time through a door.

NO FUELING. "Neither snow, nor rain, nor heat, nor gloom of night stays these carriers from the swift completion of their appointed rounds." To this age-old credo may soon be added the words, "Nor lack of gasoline," as the U.S. Postal Service adds the first 14 of 375 electric mail delivery vans to its fleet of gasoline-powered delivery vehicles. Pictured above is the electrically-powered delivery van made by Commuter Vehicles of Sebring, Fla., which was recently put into service in Tampa, Fla. The electric mail delivery program is expected to go nationwide in an effort by the Postal Service to reduce costs. The electric delivery van operates for just pennies per day, can be recharged overnight or between deliveries and is also quiet and pollution-free.

Postal Service turns to electric cars for savings

F. W. Flowers Sr., president of Commuter Vehicles, Inc., has said that the U.S. Postal Service accepted fifteen production models of the electrically powered postal van, the first of 375 to be delivered during the next several months to various post offices throughout the country.

Commuter Vehicles

designed this vehicle from the ground up, to meet tough Post Office requirements.

The first of the electric vans will be delivered during the month of May into the Tampa-St. Petersburg area.

The van, which uses no oil or gasoline for power, will save the Postal Service many thousands of dollars. The cost for energy per day, per vehicle, at current electric rates, will be less than $1.00 per day. When compared to $7.50 per day, per vehicle, the cost of five gallons of gasoline at $1.50 per gallon, which the gasoline-powered vehicles now being driven use up even when it is empty, is why the Post Office is interested in electric vehicles.

The van has a top speed of 50 MPH. It's maximum range under ideal conditions and reduced speed is 70 miles. Maximum range with a full load, making 350 delivery stops and starts, is 30 miles, plus.

It has a load-carrying capacity of 500 lbs and over 40 cubic feet of area in which to store it. The vehicle is quiet, pollution-free, easy to get into and out of, simple to drive, and has a life expectancy of ten years.

The Post Office Department has an option of requesting an additional 375 of the vehicles.

The Post Office Department is the largest fleet owner of electric vehicles in the country, and Commuter Vehicles, Inc., is a wholly owned subsidiary of General Engines Company of Thorofare, N.J. General Engines Co. produces trailers for the construction industry and asphalt-paving road rollers.

Unemployment level improves slightly

Unemployment in Granite City declined from 12.6 percent in April to 12.2 percent in May, according to preliminary figures released by the Illinois Bureau of Employment Security Tuesday.

Despite the increase in employment here, "payroll levels are still down acutely from year ago levels," according to Bob Worden of the research and analysis section. Worden also said, "With respect to the jobless rate will increase notably, mainly because of the large influx of youth (former students) into the labor force and because of adverse weather which slows a great deal of outdoor activity."

Worden noted that the Illinois Bureau of Employment Security currently is conducting an occupational employment statistical survey covering the state's construction, finance, insurance, real estate and service occupations.

The survey will provide profiles of occupations represented by each and trends in the numbers of workers employed by each occupation, will aid in projections of future manpower requirements by industry and occupation and will assist in planning and disappearing occupations.

The information will help in the development of educational and training programs and may be used by employment counselors, employers and manpower managers, Worden said.

Persons interested in the survey or requesting additional information may contact Worden at 1-234-2115.

Worden said the preliminary figures for May in Granite City show that 16,555 persons are employed and 2,389 are unemployed. That is an improvement from the 16,544 who were working in April and from the 2,389 who were unemployed that month.

Unemployment in Madison County declined to 10.1 percent for the seven county area studied by the Belleville office of the Illinois Bureau of Employment Security. Unemployment averaged 10.0 percent in Bond, Clinton, Marion, Jersey, Madison, Monroe and St. Clair Counties while Madison County's unemployment rate was pegged at 10.1 percent in the preliminary May figures. That is a slight improvement from the 10.2 percent in April.

The May figures show that 11,684 persons were unemployed in Madison County while 103,788 were working in April. 104,841 persons were unemployed while 10,699 were employed, according to Worden's research.

Granite City's unemployment level of 12.2 percent was lower than the 13.2 percent in Belleville in May, but was higher than either Alton, with unemployment of 11.1 percent, or East St. Louis, which had unemployment of 11.5 percent, the preliminary figures showed.

Eligible for national finals

Three local girls scored first place wins in the Illinois State Pageant Sunflower pageant and are eligible to compete in the national finals at Las Vegas, Nev., July 26 through July 31.

The regional event was held last month at the Harford Recreation Center. Those receiving crowns, signifying first place, were: Michelle Dennis, Pontoon Beach, beauty queen in the 11 to 14 age group; Angela Johnson, Marion, beauty queen, 15 and older group; and Ginger Booker, Madison, talent queen in the 11 to 14 group.

Sponsorship of all three girls in the Las Vegas finals will be provided according to Shelly MacLaughlin, pageant director.

Beauty queens were required to be interviewed by the judges and model sportswear and party dress.

Judging of the talent contest was based on difficulty, showmanship, costume and talent presentation.

Runners up and alternates from Granite City, included: Laura Shanks, first alternate, 15 and older; Suzanne Houston, first alternate in beauty, 7 to 10 years; and Christine Grooms, runner up, photogenic, 7 to 10 years.

How to save money on your grocery bills

Here are some important shopping tips

2—Get to know the butcher and produce manager.

3—Find out when deliveries of perishables are made and shop on those days. Fresher foods last longer and consequently, you'll waste less.

4—Learn to estimate accurately the amounts of food needed. Keep a record of the amount of food you throw away in a week. It may alert you to ways you can reduce waste.

5—For economy and variety, use eggs, dry beans, and peanut butter in place of meat some of the time. These foods provide protein and most other nutrients that meat supplies.

6—Use nonfat dry milk, which is less expensive than fluid milk, at least part of the time in cooking and as a beverage.

some problems that would keep us from resubmitting his name. I told him we had some questions, and that we would get back with him in four to six weeks."

An aide to Gov. Thompson said, "We don't need another Rosenblum situation." There has been opposition from Illinois business leaders to the appointment of a consumer activist, Daniel Rosenblum, to the Illinois Commerce Commission. He automatically became a member of the utility regulatory panel Monday after the Senate declined to act for or against the appointment.

The Senate group was preparing to consider Herzog when the appointment was withdrawn this week.

Administration officials said they had been contacted during the weekend and this week by at least four representatives of business groups opposed to the selection of Herzog.

One such official is said to have cited the importance of impartiality, adding that there had been liberal interpretation in the past by Local 1715 of worker compensation provisions, employee benefits, and the illness and injuries in various laws and agreements.

The state board is the final judge of appeals regarding unemployment law. It rules on cases in which there has been no agreement at local-level unemployment officers and later among state-appointed referees.

Herzog did not appear Monday before the Senate confirmation committee that was to consider his nomination that day.

The appointment now could not be acted upon until November, when

Probate Court of Madison County on Sept. 2, 1980. The attorney for Louise Sedlack was made aware of the proceedings and did not appear or object in any manner.

"Without notice to Thomas, Louise Sedlack's attorney then went to the divorce court of Madison County and obtained an order (under the terms of his divorce from John Sedlack) for the possession of the premises..." Scroggins said.

"After being made aware of the order, Thomas was able to set aside that order after a court hearing and after full arguments by Louise Sedlack."

"In October of 1980, Louise Sedlack's attorney was back in Probate Court attempting to set aside the approval of the sale. The petition to vacate and modify the order on Oct. 2, 1980, was denied by the Probate Court.

"Frequently, there would be a second hearing in the divorce court on an attempt by Louise Sedlack's attorney to obtain a writ for possession of the premises at Seventh Street and Madison Avenue in the divorce court.

On Feb. 2, 1981, the court reaffirmed those previous holdings, sustaining the petition of John Sedlack.

"Then, and only then, did Louise Sedlack and her attorney file the suit which has received so much publicity, requesting possession of the premises at Seventh Street and Madison Avenue, and damages.

"At that time, the rent at the rate of $1,200 per month has been paid by Thomas to Louise Sedlack and (she) has cashed those checks, accepting that as the fair rental value of the premises in question. Any representation that the rent has not been paid and accepted is a deliberate misrepresentation of the facts, which should have been corrected by her and her attorney in their various press conferences.

"In the pending suit, a counterclaim is filed by Thomas for actual damages in the amount of $5,000, and punitive damages in the amount of $50,000 for the filing of the suit against Louise Sedlack. There has been no answer filed to that pleading, to date, although the pleading was filed in April of 1981.

"These facts speak for themselves. Thomas has never been contended by Thomas to be the owner of the property he purchased, but it is without question that the business was transferred and the operation by Thomas has certainly been legal, above board and justified at all times," Scroggins concluded.

Petitions oppose sewer rate hike

A petition drive opposing the recent $4-per-month increase in sewage treatment and maintenance fees for users of the new Four Township sewers has been started and 167 petitions now have been signed by residents of Nauvoo, Chouteau and Venice townships. Petitions also may be signed at businesses in the special service area.

Mary Ray, one of the organizers of the petition drive, said that she has received "a tremendous response" from those she has contacted about the petitions and everyone she approached has signed it, with the exception of one employee of the sewer district.

The text of the petition follows. "We, the undersigned, do hereby go on record as being in agreement with the drastically increased rate of $1.80 per month recently imposed by the Madison County Board for the new Three Township Sanitary Sewer maintenance charges. We request that the rate be reduced to an amount comparable to that of other communities in the Madison and St. Clair County areas." Mrs. Ray said residents she has spoken to "feel that they have been hit and hit hard," paying taxes on the local share of the cost of constructing the sewers as well as paying $15.80 per month for sewer maintenance and treatment.

"Things have gone far enough. If they can up to $15.80, then it is just as easily up to $20.80 or $25.80. It is unlimited."

She said recent publicity has been to the effect that the people in the special sewer district had an opportunity to vote on whether to sell the bonds for the local share of construction. "We had a referendum and voted 'no' to default—literally by default—through a backdoor referendum. We did not have a vote," she recalled.

She contended that county officials lied to the residents of the sewer district in saying that taxes would decrease year by year as the bonds matured. "I paid the same last year as I did the year before," she said. "The reason to believe the taxes will be less this year," she said. "The people were deceived upside down and inside out," she contended.

Mrs. Ray said people she talked to also are strongly opposed to a plan to increase the tap-on fees Jan. 1 to $400 and feel the county should consider its support for this increase.

She said the petition drive is "a grassroots effort. We have no leader and no spokesman. Everyone is equal."

Persons wishing to get a copy of the petition may call 931-5048 or one mailed or delivered to them.

Schools 80% in compliance with state immunization law

All of Illinois' 1,012 public school districts reported above 80 percent compliance with immunization and health examination requirements for students in the 1980-81 school year. State Superintendent of Education Donald G. Gill reported to the State Board of Education.

The 80 percent level was required by law for the 1980-81 school year, but about 80 percent of the districts surpassed that figure and reported compliance levels in excess of 90 percent—the minimum level for the 1981-82 school year and each year thereafter.

The success of local districts in meeting immunization requirements means that more than 90 percent of the state's school children are protected against polio, diphtheria, tetanus, pertussis (whooping cough), measles and rubella, either by vaccination or from having had the disease, Gill explained.

According to the Illinois Department of Public Health, 90 percent of the children in Illinois need to be immunized against the six diseases in order to prevent epidemics.

"This is the first year that, state-wide, over 90 percent of the children have been protected against all six diseases," Gill said. "Local school districts have done a tremendous job and are to be commended for their efforts."

Illinois law requires that all children in public and non-public schools be immunized against the six diseases, and also stipulates that students who are entering schools for the first time, or who are beginning the school year, must have physical examinations.

A district that reports compliance levels below those required by law could have 10 percent of its state aid payment withheld, under the provisions of public Act 81-184.

Immunization data collected from the districts each fall is turned over to the Illinois Department of Public Health so staff members can pinpoint regions, counties and schools where resources could best be used to prevent disease outbreaks.

Local school officials can also use the data to organize follow-up procedures such as physician referrals or in-school clinics, to prevent major epidemics, Gill explained.

"This annual project is a good cooperative effort," Gill said. "Schools, Public Health Department officials and parents have pooled their efforts for the important task of protecting children from these serious illnesses."

School districts must report immunization and health examination compliance levels as of October 15 each year.

CYCLE IS TAKEN
A yellow 1973 Yamaha 175 motorcycle was stolen from the rear of the apartment of Frank Miller, 1737 Edison Drive, between 8:30 a.m. and 9:30 p.m. Friday. Miller said the cycle is valued at $350.

MADISON-VENICE ROTARY CLUB officers are installed and have assumed their duties. From left are: Chris Olsen, treasurer; Henry Gray, director; Joe Gosney, vice-president; Frank Kierski, retiring president; Clarence Green, secretary; Bill Badger, president; Wade James, director, and Al Hudzik, director. A joint installation dinner was held with the Madison Lions Club, Lions District 1-G. Lt. Governor Donald Patrick was the installing officer.

State task force to probe problems of buying a home

Governor James E. Thompson has appointed a Task Force on Homeownership Monday to recommend ways to aid persons trying to buy a home.

"To own a home of one's own has always been the American Dream," the governor said. "Of late, this dream is becoming remote to more and more Illinois citizens."

"Housing prices and mortgage rates have skyrocketed, effectively pricing many potential homeowners out of the market. The situation is further exemplified by a record low number of housing starts."

The governor asked the Task Force to prepare a report to him as soon as possible.

Determining the extent to which potential homeowners have been prevented from homeownership.

Investigating the effect of alternative mortgage instruments on housing needs.

Investigating ways to reduce the costs of home ownership.

Recommending any statutory or administrative changes which will improve the possibility of homeownership.

The governor also asked the Task Force to consider in their investigation zoning laws and building code standards.

The governor asked that the Task Force be prepared to report to him as soon as possible.

Stamp store caters to the leading hobby

Granite City Postmaster Jack D. Wilkins has announced the opening of a philatelic stamp store at the Mitchell Inn, 100 E. East Street, on Rocks Road.

Birkie Hills will continue to operate the Mitchell Branch as a postal facility, as well as serving stamp collectors and dealers with the special items offered through philatelic outlets on-grade.

"Stamp collecting is the world's most popular hobby," according to Postmaster Wilkins, "and ours is one of only 28 similar facilities located in post offices throughout the country."

"There are 22 million collectors in the United States alone."

"Many items are presently available for the beginning collector, including experienced stamp collector justification through sales of philatelic items increases, more items will be available for sale."

"We encourage participation in what we may justify the need for a full line of philatelic items."

"I'm pleased we have advanced this far with the store and can offer these services to our customers. It is the first time a store of this kind has ever been offered in the Granite City area."

The new philatelic stamp store will be open from 8:30 a.m. to 12 noon and from 1 to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. If there are questions on stamp collectors' items, Hills can be called at 931-1794.

MAN SENT TO JAIL
James W. Bramen, 22, of 3221 Wilshire Drive, was turned over to Granite City police at the South Roxana, Ill., Monday after being arrested on a county City warrant alleging failure to appear in court on a theft charge.

Circuit Judge Charles Chapman at 2:20 p.m. Monday cited Bramen for being in contempt of court and ordered him to serve three days in the Madison County Jail at Edwardsville.

LABOR BAN
The Chinese Exclusion Act was adopted May 6, 1882, forbidding the admission of Chinese laborers to the United States for 10 years.

WEAPONS CHARGE
John G. Richardson, 32, of 410 Division St., Pontoon Beach, was arrested in Wilson Park at 4:10 p.m. Saturday and was charged with unlawful use of a weapon and public consumption of alcohol. An officer alleged seeing him drinking beer in the park and when the policeman searched him, a pistol in a holster was found in the wasteband of his trousers.

He was jailed and later was released on $137 cash bond.

Primary may be moved from March to late April

State Rep. Sam Wolf (D, Granite City) is urging legislation changing Illinois' primary date from March to April. The proposal has passed the House and Senate.

"Changing the primary date would shorten the time of campaigning and put the primary in better weather," Wolf said. "This should increase voter turnout and lower the cost of campaigning."

"In particular, it would help the elderly who find it difficult to get out in the snow and rain we often have in March."

"Another benefit of this proposal would be to ease the burden on election officials, who now have to work overtime during the Christmas holidays processing nominating petitions."

The proposal would change the Illinois primary date from the third Tuesday in March to the last Tuesday in April, beginning with the 1982 race.

"Although other states, like New Hampshire, have earlier presidential primaries, Illinois has the earliest primary in the country for all elected officials, senators down to precinct committeemen,"

Wolf said. "The proposal is supported by the Illinois Association of Voters, the Independent Voters of Illinois and the County Clerks Association."

Luke 12:15 . . . "A man's life does not consist in the abundance of the things that he possesses."

It is to see the world caught in the race for material possessions. Sad but not unexpected. We have allowed ourselves to come to that point where a man is not what he owns.

This is not what life is all about. We may gain wealth but we will never be satisfied with wealth. A good name is more to be desired than riches. A good name is earned not bought.

Honesty, kindness, compassion, and loyalty are just a few of the things that make life more abundant. And these are all the virtues of God. Since He created us in His image, surely these are the things He wants to see in us.

And it's up to us to see that we live up to them. Why not start today?

Triplets let big one get away, 7-6

By PETE HAYES
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

HIGHLAND — Tri-City manager Eldon Warfield took a deep breath. It was the bottom of the eighth inning against Highland and the score was tied 6-6. "Damn, I hate this," he said, referring to the extra-inning. "I'd rather be at the dentist's right now."

He'd probably have been better off. Highland managed to push across the winning run in the eighth and grab a come-from-behind 7-6 victory from the Triplets here Wednesday night. The victory by Highland kept Tri-City from creeping to within a half-game of first place Alton in the North Division of District 22. Instead, the Triplets have a 10-3 league record and are tied with Collinsville, a game and a half behind the front-runners.

"It's a tough one to lose," said Warfield. "But we didn't play poorly. We had to make mistakes, though, but we still looked good."

Tri-City jumped all over Highland starter Tom Ladd in the first inning for two runs. It looked like a share of first place wouldn't be so hard to get. With two out, Bob Ford singled to right-field. He stole second and went to third when the Highland catcher threw wild into centerfield. Rick Daily's single for the first run. Then Daren DePew singled. Daily scored when the second baseman threw the ball away from the hole. With two out, Rick Daily scored for the Triplets and the Highland fog rolling in on the semi-dark diamond, it looked good.

Not for long. With one swing of the bat, Highland tailed the score. After a leadoff walk, Pat Jakel swatted a Doty pitch over the leftfield fence.

Back came Tri-City, the second coming. The Triplets seconded the lead when John Linhart doubled and came home on a single by second baseman Kevin Sykes.

Second baseman Kevin Sykes from shortstop back to his "natural" position and experimented with Doty at short. The move made the Granite City manager look like a genius. Sykes looked at ease at his "new" position and made three nifty plays. And Daily woed the crowd with a dazzling diving stop of a groundball in the fifth inning. He jumped to his feet and threw the runner out with his cannon-like arm.

Another change came in the fifth inning. Tri-City catcher Daren DePew shook up the ball and scored with this base. John Vrenick moved from third to the catcher's spot.

"Those won't be our regular spots every day," said Warfield. "But Daily will be seeing more time at shortstop. And Kevin looked good at second."

The problem arises when Dan Patterson is included in the mix. He's been solid all night with a sure wisdom. But when he returns to the lineup, he'll bring with him a team-leading average of .457. "He looks pretty good at shortstop the other night," (Tuesday) against O'Fallon," said managers. "He'd love to have that problem."

In the third inning, Tri-City broke it open — or so it seemed. Vrenick led off with a triple. As it turned out, a single would have been as good. Ford stepped up next and lined a two-run home over the leftfield fence to give the Triplets a 5-3 lead. They doubled, stole 1 bird and came home when rightfielder Jeff Puryear hit a sacrifice fly to centerfield.

A home solo homer by Highland in the bottom of the third, two in the fourth and one in the sixth sent the game into the extra frame. Tri-City had a chance of its own to take the lead in the top of the eighth. With one out, Joe Schnecke singled. Rightfielder Rick Buer sacrificed him to second, but he was stranded there.

Highland scored the winning run when Jay Binderer singled, was sacrificed to second and scored when Steve Fenton bunted. Buer appeared to make a diving catch near the foul line on the hit, but the ball came out of his glove when he rolled over.

Kevin Cripps was the losing pitcher, coming in to relieve Doty in the fifth inning. Tri-City will host Cahokia in a District game tonight (Thursday) at 6 o'clock.

Three chosen for Hall of Fame

NEW YORK — The United States Soccer Federation announced today that three long-time devotees of American soccer have been chosen for induction to the USSF National Soccer Hall of Fame for 1981. Erwin Singe, a former president of the USSF, and George "Whitney" Craggs, a USSF referee since 1962, have been selected for the National Soccer Hall of Fame honor. The third inductee, Harry Saunders, a former president of the Southern New York Soccer Assn. and vice president of the New York area's German-American Soccer Assn. from 1963-69. He first became active at the administrative level as vice president of the Southern New York Soccer Assn. from 1967-69. He has also served in the capacity of secretary and president of the state association and was president of N.Y.A.C. of the German-American FA for 12 years. In addition, Saunders, as USSF development chairman for the northern U.S. played an important role in establishing the first coaching schools.

Craggs, a native of Canada who became a U.S. citizen in 1953, was a commissioner of the Washington State Soccer Football Assn. from 1957-61. A former stand-out player in the Washington State League, Craggs registered with the USSF as a referee in 1962. He served as treasurer and referee assigner for the Washington State Soccer Assn. for 18 years. A longtime (1968 & 1970) recipient of the Barney Kempton Memorial Award for outstanding service to soccer, Craggs is a former North American Soccer League lineman and referee and is currently an NASL referee assessor.

Saunders is the longest serving president in the history of the New York area's Cosmopolitan League (formerly German-American League). An eight-year president of the Cosmopolitan League, the English-born Saunders served as president of the Southern New York Soccer Assn. from 1967-69. He has also served in the capacity of secretary and president of the state association and was president of N.Y.A.C. of the German-American FA for 12 years. In addition, Saunders, as USSF development chairman for the northern U.S. played an important role in establishing the first coaching schools.

In addition to those elected for 1981, others nominated for the Hall of Fame by USSF affiliated groups — George Bush, Joe Boyd, Saverio Foglia, Gustav Ingold, Robert Nicol, Foster Periccioli and Fred Stoll.

All nominees not selected will be reconsidered along with candidates from previous years for election in 1982.

The USSF Hall of Fame was originated by the Old Timers' Association in 1950.

A total of 147 have been inducted into the Hall of Fame and there are currently 82 active members.

After walking the leadoff man in the first inning, Burton set down the next 21 O'Fallon batters to face him. "I guess I feel pretty good," said Burton. "One walk, though. It can have been a perfect game."

Tri-City pitcher Keith Burton hurled a no-hitter here Tuesday night in the second game of a doubleheader against O'Fallon. The Triplets won the twinbill 11-4 and 7-0. But if not for one pitch, Burton wouldn't have had just a no-hitter.

He'd have thrown a perfect game.

Meanwhile, Tri-City was doing its part to score runs for Burton. The Triplets came up with one run in the third inning, one in the fourth, one in the fifth and four runs in the bottom of the sixth.

But with Burton on the mound, all the Triplets really had was one.

Astro, Zantigo's are double tourney winners

GRANITE CITY — Astro Travel Service of Granite City and Zantigo's were double-winners here Wednesday night in the annual Granite City Park District Women's Slow-Pitch Softball Tournament at Wilson Park.

Astro, which features many former Granite City South players, defeated Sedlack of Madison 12-3 in the first game and came back to edge the Mitchell Athletic Club 6-5 in the nightcap.

Karen Spencer was the winning pitcher for Astro Travel in both games. In the first game, Karen Macies hit a three-run home run.

Sandwiched in between Astro Travel's two victories was a 6-3 win by the Mitchell Athletic Club over the Granite City VFW Post.

Debbie Sedbres had a homer and Pam Warfield

was the winning pitcher.

Best yet to come for GC kickers

GRANITE CITY — When Bob Kurilla and his girls soccer team first got together sometime last year, he knew they'd go far. He was right.

Last Sunday, the Granite City Soccer Club under 19 girls' team, "The Lions," ended its season. But it served notice on the rest of the girls soccer hierarchy — Granite City will be around for a few more seasons.

The loss Sunday was to the NCISL, the girls' championship team and came in the United States Soccer Federation's national third place game. It meant that the Granite girls would go home with fourth place in the nation.

And they were by far the youngest team in the Final Four.

That's what's excited Kurilla. "We know we have a good chance to go back next year," Kurilla told the Press-Record in a telephone interview from Tampa, Fla., where he's vacationing. "It'll be hard, and Cincinnati might give us some problems, but we should go back (to the National Finals) next year."

This past season, Kurilla and his girls had a record of 35-5-4. Not bad for a bunch of girls who are mostly sophomores and junior high schoolers.

One of the biggest accomplishments by the team this past season was when it won the prestigious Big Red Women's Tournament at Indiana University. You see, the Granite City Soccer Club was the only high school team in the tournament. The rest of the entries were college teams. Among them were Indiana, Elmhurst and Rockhurst. The girls against the women. Literally.

"That was a thrill," said Kurilla. "We knew for sure then that we had what it took. Winning that one was critical."

But Kurilla knew early on that this group would be going places. "We thought we were something," he said. "And we felt we could win the regional and make it to the National Finals. But we had no idea what to expect once we got there."

As things turned out, the National Finals didn't go too well. The GC girls lost in the semifinal game to eventual champion D'Feeters of Dallas 2-0. But the score was 1-0 until late in the game when Kurilla moved everyone but the goalie up front in an effort to tie the tie.

game. Dallas scored a "gimme" goal in the closing minutes.

"The atmosphere during that game was like the second game," Kurilla said. "There were between 2,500 and 3,000 people there cheering for the home team. Our girls aren't used to that. I think our youth hurt us too."

Now, the girls get a dose of what the Granite boys go through when Granite City North and South play." The North-South games in Granite City annually draw the biggest prep soccer crowds in the area, usually between 1,500 and 2,500 fans.

"But we gained a lot of experience at Dallas," he said. "Even though we never got a chance to really play our game against Dallas, our second game against New York started out differently. "Being able to jump on top showed we weren't as nervous," said Kurilla. "But we sort of laid down after that."

"The New York team was typical of New York. They were pretty cocky. Thought they were better than anybody else."

"Really all three teams besides us were cocky. They were older and thought they could do it all. I don't think our girls were as sure of themselves at first. But the experience will do nothing but help us."

Next year, Kurilla will have lost only one player off his year's second game team.

But the girls, for all intents and purposes, will remain together for two more years.

win in Dallas, we had a good time. We learned a lot."

10—Thursday, July 2, 1981, GRANITE CITY (III.) PRESS-RECORD

For now, Kurilla will bask in the Florida sun in Tampa, take in a couple professional soccer games and relax. But it won't be a long holiday. "We'll probably start up with what we do in the fall," he said. "I'll get together in late August."

Kurilla said the pending addition of girls soccer to the high school sports programs in Granite City will help teams like his if the season comes in the fall. "But if it's in the spring, the girls will have to choose between our program and the high schools. They have to do that in Dallas now."

If things go the way Kurilla wants, the Granite City Soccer Club might just stick together long enough to make it back to Dallas.

Tri-City flounders, loses 8-7

By TERRY MACKIN
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — The Tri-City Triplets played six solid innings of solid baseball Monday night. But, as has happened many times during the season, one inning destroyed all hopes of victory.

Collinsville, with the aid of two crucial Triplet errors, erupted for five runs in the second inning and held off a late Triplet rally to defeat the host Triplets, 8-7.

Collinsville scored a solo run in the first inning when shortstop Todd Miller legged out a slow roller to Kevin Sykes. Catcher Jack Graham then laid down a perfect bunt which Triplets third-baseman John Vrenick proceeded to field and roll to right field, scoring Miller.

But it was the second inning that had Tri-City Manager Eldon Warfield sweating. After Patterson threw his hat on the field, he was relieved by Cooper, Todd Miller, and a line-drive double to the left field fence by Graham to tie the game at 7-7.

The Triplets scored one in the sixth on a John Linnhart double and a single by Sykes. Miller then relieved Woods, and retired the Triplets in order in the seventh to secure the victory for Collinsville.

Even though Tri-City committed five errors, Collinsville Manager Frank McClary felt that his team deserved the victory.

"We are really starting to play good ball and we are going to be aggressive the rest of the year. We are going to run at every opportunity and we'll even suicide squeeze when we have to," said McClary.

"We are showing the top spot now and I think that we have the guys to do it. Eldon has a real fine group, but tonight the best team won."

But Warfield disagreed with McClary.

"We are just going to have to play seven strong innings, instead of five or six. If it wasn't for the second inning, the game was ours," Warfield said.

And the young manager didn't feel that the best team won Monday night's game.

"They won this one, but I just have to wait until the end of the year to see who the best team is. If they are still winning, we are not," he said.

The victory gave Collinsville sole possession of second place behind division-leading Alton, with a 9-3 record. Tri-City's league record fell to 8-4 in league play.

Football Cards sign third pick

ST. LOUIS — The St. Louis Football Cardinals have signed cornerback Jeff Griffin, the club's third-round draft choice, to a series of one-year contracts, it was announced today by Joe Sullivan, Vice President of Football Operations.

Griffin, 6-0, 185, is regarded as one of the better pass defenders in the 1981 draft. He was the 10th overall pick of the Cardinals, the 12th overall pick of the University of Utah record for career interceptions with 13 during his four-year career in which he started every game. He tied an NCAA record for

Long Lake budget $117,500

A new budget of $117,500 has been adopted by the trustees of the Long Lake Fire Protection District for the 1981-82 year.

The major part of the budget projects an expenditure of $95,000 for payment of contract commitments with the Volunteer Fire Department which responds to fire alarms within the district.

The budget also includes $1,500 as salaries of the trustees and $500 for convention expenses. Legal fees are projected at $1,500, and $10,000 is set up for purchase

ARRESTS AT LOUNGE

Bruce A. Uzunoff, 19, of 2614 Pine St., and Scott B. Robertson, 20, of 49 Shirlawn Dr., were charged with committing a criminal damage to property after they allegedly pulled up shrubs and flowers from the south side of Charlie's Restaurant, Nameoki Road, at Madison and 14th at 4 a.m. Sunday. Restaurant officials said the two were denied entry due to closing hours and their ages and they allegedly became angry and started pulling up shrubs and flowers. A security guard stopped them and held them until police arrived.

Dr. Wilkins heads
new health plan

Francis X. Lieb, MD, president of the St. Louis Metro Health Plan has announced that the St. Louis based prepaid health plan has received licensure from the Illinois Department of Public Health and the Illinois Department of Insurance to operate in the State of Illinois.

The Metro Health Plan is being brought to Illinois under the auspices of the Metro-East Doctors I.P.A. Corporation, formed by 18 prominent Metro-East physicians and headed by G. T. Wilkins Jr., president.

Drs. Lieb and Wilkins expressed delight that the nationally acclaimed St. Louis Metro Health Plan can now be made available to employees and their groups in the Metro-East area.

"What the Plan will mean to Metro-East residents and their families is that a simple, easy to understand system of total health care soon will be available for an easily budgeted monthly fixed payment," Dr. Lieb stated.

Plan advantages include virtually no out-of-pocket expenses, no complicated claim forms and in most cases not even a bill.

Dr. Wilkins cited statistics that show that over 60 percent of all health insurance costs are due to hospitalization. Our program which encourages early detection and treatment will greatly reduce the need for hospitalization. This makes it possible to offer greatly expanded outpatient covered health services.

Some of the health care benefits, not typically covered by traditional health plans but which are covered by the new Metro-East Health Plan include routine office visits and check-ups, comprehensive physical exams, routine eye and hearing exams, diagnostic x-ray and lab tests, regular dental services, child examinations, immunizations and prescription drugs. (Plan members pay only $2.00 per prescription).

Unlike most Health Maintenance Organizations (HMOs), members of which must use only a certain limited panel of physicians practicing in a specific facility, the Metro Plan allows its members the freedom to choose any of the 300 Metro-East physicians and to receive treatment in their physician's own office.

The Metro-Plan's initial Illinois service area will consist of Madison, St. Clair and Monroe counties.

Management of the physician owned plan will be handled by Medserco Incorporated, a St. Louis based development and management company serving the health care field.

Improvement sites visited

Nearly 100 Metro Forum members and guests participated Friday in a rail tour of "Regional Rediscovery," an East-West Gateway Coordinating Council project conceived and funded by the Danforth Foundation's St. Louis Leadership Program.

Goal of the project is to increase awareness and first-hand knowledge of the six capital improvement areas targeted for action in East-West Gateway's "Spirit '80s."

"Regional Rediscovery" is a community effort and boat tour to view bridge, airport, public transit, railroad and river recreation projects included in "Spirit '80s."

Speakers on each subject use the example visited as a basic for addressing total regional needs in the subject area.

Friday's tour will be evaluated and refined for formal introduction later this year.

The $4,280 Danforth grant was used to finance the tour by two subsequent "Rediscovery" groups. Gateway then plans to continue the awareness-building program for other community leaders.

"Regional Rediscovery" was conceived and structured by the regional interest group of the 1980-81 St. Louis Leadership Program, a Danforth Foundation effort to increase urban knowledge and create a network of community leaders who can enhance the future of metropolitan St. Louis.

The regionalism group was chaired during its developmental period by Dr. John T. Farrell, associate dean, School of Business Administration, University of Missouri-St. Louis, and during the implementation phase by Karl R. Barnickol, attorney, the Monsanto Co.

Regionalism interest group members are Judson W. Calkins, partner, Lashley, Calkins, Thies, Rava and Hamel; John T. Farrell, executive vice-president, St. John's Mercy Medical Center; Sally S. Ferguson, coordinator, research data services, Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville; Susan Murray, executive director, St. Louis Relocation Clearinghouse; Marvin M. Standley, senior vice-president, western Bell Telephone Co.; Judy Studer, education director, Missouri Botanical Gardens; and Ann Daly Treter, vice-president, Aaron D. Cushman and Associates, public relations.

Rev. Khoren Houshmand, pastor of St. Gregory's Church, made the awards and congratulated the students for being recognized nationally for their achievements.

Armenian students receive high honors

Two students in the local Armenian school have been honored for outstanding work done in classes throughout the past year.

Ani Ayvazian, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Vatche Ayvazian of Ladue, Mo., and Arto M. and Mrs. Garo Sarian of St. Louis County, were recipients of unique, ancient Armenian coins in ceremonies in late June at the St. Gregory's Church hall in Granite City.

The Rev. Khoren Houshmand, pastor of St. Gregory's Church, made the awards and congratulated the students for being recognized nationally for their achievements.

Wolf supports revenue bonds

State Rep. Sam Wolf (D-Madison City) has joined other House members in sponsoring a House resolution calling upon the federal government to support industrial development.

Industrial development bonds are issued by governments to create capital for manufacturing and retail firms. Since they are government issued, the investor's return on the bond is tax-free, making the bonds competitive with other investments.

"There are several proposals before Congress to eliminate the bonds or remove their tax-exempt status," Wolf said. "Some of these proposals could cripple a program that creates jobs and in the long run, more than pays for itself."

Wolf said the bonds have helped create more than 46,000 additional jobs in the community during the last seven years. "Studies have shown that the revenue gained from the salaries created from projects assisted by the bonds is far greater than the revenue that would be gained by removing the exemptions," Wolf said.

BREAK INTO AUTO

A tool box containing hand tools and air compressor tools was stolen from the auto of John Daley, 2603 E. 23rd St., parked at his home, it was discovered at 9:55 a.m. Saturday. Entry was gained by breaking glass in the right rear window after attempting to open the driver's door. The door and lock were damaged.

70 craftsmen at GC park festival Sunday

of the Press-Record

For the first time in the 22-year history of the Granite City Park District's Fourth of July Festival at Wilson Park, a unique show designed to display and sell crafts, gifts and other artistic work is planned.

More than 70 craftsmen and artists from the Illinois and surrounding states will participate in the show, scheduled from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday, July 5, in the Wilson Park rink pavilion, it was announced today by Harold Brown, park district director.

Admission to the craft exhibition is free.

A schedule of activities for the remainder of the five-day Independence Day festival, including Saturday night's fireworks and crafts display, may be found on Page One of today's issue.

At lower left is Mrs. John Gross surrounded by bouquets of "bread roses." A sort of "four-to-flower" craft, the roses are made by hand from bread dough in pastel and vibrant colors and are washable.

Other craftsmen will exhibit Early American artwork, leaded stained glass, framed metal etchings, decorative pillows, woodcraft, ceramics, gemstones, marquetry, shellcraft, purses, house plants and brass planters, Christmas ornaments, picture framing, jewelry, baby items, toys and tole, water and oil paintings.

All work exhibited in the show must be handcrafted, a requirement which also is met by those exhibiting in the park district's Fall Craft Ideas Festival.

The deadline to come in with a booth is the Fourth of July, August comes above as a means to augment the limited number of craftsmen able to be accommodated in the fall activity which has proved to be a most successful event, Brown said.

"The craft show promises to be one of most popular attractions of the festival," Brown said.

Safe July 4 motoring tips

Come the Fourth of July weekend, pack your picnic, pack up your kids and head out to the country or wherever adventureland exists for you.

"People should mind to make sure you still have a sound body come July 4," advises Jose Belasco, M.D., assistant professor of surgery and director of emergency services at the University of Illinois Hospital.

"The July 4 weekend is one of the worst weekends for accidents — especially traffic accidents that result in injuries and fatalities," said Dr. Belasco.

The increased number of accidents is due in part to people drinking too much alcohol and trying to drive too far in too short a period of time," he said.

"They should avoid driving after drinking. And they should scale their trips so that no one has to drive continuously."

Statistics bear out the physician's out, according to Jack Goldberg, director of the University of Illinois' School of Public Health. He is a research associate in epidemiology — the science of studying the frequency of disease or injury in a population.

"There are 20,000 deaths due to accidents each year; half of them will come from traffic," said Goldberg.

"There are, however, several things a person can do, or not do, to reduce the risk, although they do not guarantee freedom from accidents."

"These suggestions are pretty straightforward. First, don't drink. Fifty percent of drivers involved in fatal accidents have positive results when tested for alcohol in their blood."

"Second, wear seatbelts," he said.

"Third, avoid driving at night, especially on Friday or Saturday when the traffic accident rate is three and one-half times the daytime rate."

For travelers who have a choice of drivers, Goldberg recommended they select a woman driver, preferably one who is of middle age.

Auto strikes girl on bike

A bicyclist, 10-year-old David Ebersoldt, suffered multiple injuries at 7:45 p.m. Tuesday when struck by an auto on Mockingbird Lane at Keith Drive.

She was aided at the scene and then was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

The girl, who resides at 34 Snowbird Lane, had been riding south on Mockingbird when her bicycle was hit by the left front of the auto of James Keith, Conway, 27, Collingsville. He had been northbound and was turning left to go west on Keith Drive.

Witnesses estimated the car was moving at a speed of about five miles an hour.

Keith was attempting to go between the Conway car and a pickup truck with camper shell that had preceded the auto onto Keith. She said she tried to stop but was unable to obtain sufficient braking power on her bicycle.

A large crowd gathered at the scene as medics arrived to take her to the medical center.

Consider performance, safety, quality when shopping for fan

By CATHERINE MAUCK
County Homemaking Adviser

If you're planning to buy a fan this summer to beat the heat, keep safety and quality in mind when making your selection.

Although some fans look alike, they often differ in the amount of heat relief they provide.

A fan does not lower room temperature as an air conditioner does but "cools" by creating a breeze or air movement that helps to increase moisture evaporation. You feel cooler as moisture evaporates from your skin and from the air in the room.

Some portable fans are rated by the amount of air, in cubic feet, they can move in one minute. The cubic feet per minute or cfm rating offers some indication of how powerful a fan is.

However, tests to determine cfm rating are not a standard and some manufacturers choose not to label their fans with a cfm rating. To determine if the fan performance will be adequate, it is recommended that you consider fan speed, the velocity of the air flow it creates and determine if it is adequate for your needs.

If you are considering a fan with more than one speed, you will need to read the rated fan speeds and decide if you need a fan with one, two or three fan speeds. Some deluxe models feature timers that allow users to set the device to turn the fan on or off at predetermined times.

It is important to ask the salesperson for help and keep the size of your cooling task in mind as you choose a fan. A fan can be used in two ways: for ventilating or for circulation. When using a ventilating fan pull fresh air into a room through an open window. When used as a circulator, a fan keeps air within a room in motion. A circulation fan can help an air conditioner distribute air more evenly throughout the room, reducing energy costs.

If the fan you are considering will be used as a ventilating fan, you will need to consider the quality of the fan you select by making sure it is constructed of sturdy material, is well-balanced and will not tip over easily. Also inspect the fan to make sure it has been properly assembled.

Some fans more noise than others so you should turn a fan on and listen to it before buying. Select one that is easy on your ears and remember that the store probably is noisier than your home so the fan will sound louder there than it does when it is used at home.

Whatever fan you select, remember to buy the features you will use. Remember to consider performance, safety and quality when shopping.

presented on Thursday, July 20, at the Plantation Dinner Theater, in St. Louis.

For ticket information and availability persons may call 877-3430 between 9 a.m. and 9 p.m. Monday through Friday.

The performance is being prepared by members and friends of the First Assembly of God Church, 24th Street and Grand Avenue under the direction of Miss Carolyn Jenkins.

A special arrangement with the dinner theater has been made whereby guest will pay only the price of the meal, but will enjoy a full evening of music and fun.

Organ music will be provided by Jack Jenkins during the dinner hour.

The musical, "Special Delivery" is a series of letters written by men, women and children each expressing true to life situations. The singer then respond to the "Special Delivery" letters.

"You will laugh and perhaps you'll cry with these young folks who do an outstanding job with this musical," Rev. C. Dale Edwards said.

Ron Harris, the composer of the music has been acclaimed in many music circles as one of the best of contemporary writers. He provides a wide variety of light and intricate sounds to the strong and melodic. Musically it is very well written.

Carolyn Jenkins, director at First Assembly states that the musicians are working very hard to make this event both entertaining and inspiring.

"We want to identify with the needs that people have and express in song, a hope and desire which they can take home with them," Miss Jenkins remarked.

July 4th and independence—'All are created equal, with right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness'

July 4, the 205th birthday of the United States of America, is Independence Day—the anniversary of the occasion when the Continental Congress adopted the new nation's Declaration of Independence.

As John Adams accurately predicted, it has been "celebrated by succeeding generations as the great anniversary festival."

It is "commemorated as the day of deliverance by solemn acts of devotion to God Almighty... solemnized with pomp and parade, with shows, games, sports, guns, bells, bonfires and illuminations from one end of the town to the other, from the river to the point of embarkation for evermore."

The declaration of July 4, 1776, relates that "when in the course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another—and to assume among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the Laws of nature and of nature's God entitle them—a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to this separation."

They do these truths to be self-evident:

That all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness.

"That to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed."

"That, whenever any form of government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the right of the people to alter or to abolish it, and to institute a new government."

"Laying its foundation on such principles, and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their safety and happiness."

"Prudence, indeed, will dictate that governments long established should not be changed for light and transient causes; and, accordingly, all experience hath shown that mankind are more disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed."

"But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same object, evinces a design to reduce them under absolute despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such government and to provide new guards for their future security."

"Such has been the patient suffering of colonies and such is now the necessity which connects them after the forming of a system of government."

"...We, therefore, the representatives of the United States of America, in general congress assembled, appealing to the Supreme Judge of the World for the rectitude of our intentions, do—in the name and by the authority of the good people of these colonies—solemnly publish and declare, that these united colonies are, and of right ought to be, free and independent states."

"That they are absorbed from all allegiance to the British crown, and that all political connection between them and the state of Great Britain is, and ought to be, totally dissolved."

"That as free and independent states, they have full power to levy war, conclude peace, contract alliances, establish commerce, and to do all other acts and things which independent states may of right do."

"And for the support of this declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our lives, our fortunes, and our sacred honor."

Bulletin

Madison County again has been given an assessment multiplier of one (no countywide multiplier) for the 1980 tax year (summer 1981 collection). Only about a half-dozen of the 102 counties in Illinois qualified for "one." The state set a 1.31 multiplier for St. Clair County.

The Immunization Clinic at St. Elizabeth Medical Center will be closed Saturday, July 4, due to the holiday, but will be reopened for regular hours of 8 to 10 a.m. on Saturday, July 11, according to a hospital spokesman.

In other business, board members voted to change the major medical insurance carrier for the district, awarding the 1981-82 contract to Epsilon Life Insurance Co.

Banker's Life, the present carrier had notified the district its monthly premiums would substantially increase this year.

The Venice School District paid $5,000 a month in 1980-81, but received $9,000 from Epsilon Life, Vickers said.

Country Companies, Blue Cross and Blue Shield and Traveler's Insurance had submitted proposals to cover the district this year, the administrator advised the board.

killed by train

Bradford C. Jones, 20, of Rural Route 2, Box 791, Old Alton Road, was fatally injured when his auto was struck by an Amtrak train at the Canal Road crossing near Route 3 and the Hartford Canal at 11:13 a.m. Wednesday.

The engineer of the train, Donald Stein, Bloomington, Ill., said that as Mr. Jones' eastbound auto approached the crossing, it sped up, as though it was going to try and beat the train, but then the driver slammed on the car's brakes and the auto skidded 32 feet onto the crossing and was struck.

The impact knocked the car 15 feet to the north and 25 feet to the west of the point of impact and Mr. Jones was thrown out of the vehicle. He was found without signs of life about seven feet from the demolished car, according to Madison County sheriff's deputies.

An ambulance crew tried to revive Mr. Jones, but was unsuccessful and a deputy sheriff was called to the scene. Deputy Conner Dave Smith pronounced the victim dead at 12:15 p.m. Wednesday.

Mr. Jones was a sophomore at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville and worked as a dispatcher for the SIUE Police Department.

Additional details may be found in today's obituary column.

One witness told deputies that there has been concern about the crossing for some time, because trees and bushes obscure the vision of drivers at the railroad tracks.

During the board's executive session, representatives of the American Federation of Teachers sought approval for continuation of the district's contribution of $9 toward monthly payments on the insurance's family plan.

The policy was initiated on an interim basis, it was explained, and the request was denied.

Bids opened and awarded at the meeting included: Barge's Poultry Farm, New Athens, for eggs; Prairie Farms, Granite City, milk products; and Dean's Distributing Co., Granite City, bread. Meat products will be split between Tarias Meats Co., Madison, and Edray Foods, Granite City.

The district will readvertise for bids for gasoline and cafeteria supplies, a used bus and replacement of the gymnasium floor.

Architect Gene Cobbel of Bethalto was hired to prepare specifications and work requirements on the Venice school buildings to meet the Life-Safety Code.

Debbie Plummer was granted a one year leave of absence to pursue a master's degree at the university, the board authorized the superintendent to prepare the district budget for 1981-82.

Action on proposed changes to the Venice school athletic field was deferred until a later meeting.

The proposal includes construction of a full-size soccer field and a second softball diamond.

viewing the show, to be staged in the Wilson Park Rink Pavilion.

Carnival rides and booths will operate from 1 p.m. until 11 p.m. Saturday, concluding with the psychic exhibition at 9 p.m.

Thousands of spectators view the colorful displays each year and are alerted prior to the show starting by a series of booming serial announcements.

A new and guaranteed attraction this summer will be a large craft exhibition, with demonstrations by artists from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. Sunday, July 5, in the Wilson Park Rink Pavilion.

Over 70 craftsmen from Illinois and Missouri will take part in the show. A related story concerning the exhibits appears elsewhere in today's issue.

News notes

The Senate adjourned at 2 a.m. today and the House at 4 a.m. today, more than 24 hours after the scheduled Tuesday night completion of the spring Illinois legislative session.

State legislators failed to agree on Congressional redistricting, which will go to the courts, or on new state legislative districts, which will be decided by a bipartisan commission.

Congressional seats are to be cut from 24 to 22, and state representatives from 177 to 188.

The General Assembly failed to resolve a fund crisis that is reducing mass transit in the Chicago area. A special session is a possibility.

Gov. Jim R. Thompson agreed not to cut $20 million from education funds after lawmakers agreed to delay $20 million in tax relief for farmers and to delete $190 million in proposed tax relief on industrial equipment purchases. Budget items still appeared to exceed the amount desired by the governor by $28 million.

The Assembly expanded open meeting legislation to a 90-day period, and tests were given to suspected drunken drivers, removed ceilings on loan interest, revised unemployment insurance, and improved legislative pensions. It is not clear if the city's treatment capabilities last week and which required all of the treatment plant employees to keep sewage from backing up into homes.

The Illinois Commerce Commission on Wednesday granted a $104 million, 19.9 percent electric rate increase for Illinois Power Co. By a 3-2 vote, it also allowed the utility to include $37.5 million in its rate base for construction work in progress at the Clinton nuclear power plant.

United Auto Workers on Wednesday rejoined the AFL-CIO, ending a 13-year separation.

The Senate adjourned at 2 a.m. today and the House at 4 a.m. today, more than 24 hours after the scheduled Tuesday night completion of the spring Illinois legislative session.

"Nobody likes cuts, but I don't think a half-million saved by the city will be a drop in the bucket. I think we've got to cut $10 million off," Schuler said. "I think we will get to spending. I think we will need more like $1.6 million before the year is over," Decatur predicted.

Decatur said he opposed the mayor's veto of cuts in the police, fire, ambulance and sewage treatment services. "I think the cuts will be reduced by attrition. When someone retires or resigns, he will not be replaced until the city's financial picture improves," Schuler indicated. "I assure you, none will be replaced, unless everybody quits, then we will have to replace them," he stated.

He said it is intended to follow the council's guidelines for 20 percent manpower reductions in all other city departments, except for the city clerk's and treasurer's departments "because we already have problems in those offices. If there are layoffs there, we can be in a bind in a condition," Schuler added.

He said the reason he included the sewage treatment plant in his list of departments exempt from cuts is because the plant is supposed to sustain itself from the revenues generated by the treatment fees. He cited the recent example of the department which recently crippled the city's treatment plant last week and which required all of the treatment plant employees to keep sewage from backing up into homes.

Alderman Sharon Perjak voiced the colonies' feelings by saying, "We are penalizing the taxpayers of the city for the mistake the city made? We are penalizing everybody for the mistakes the last administration made," she contended.

Perjak was asked by police officers after the meeting why he said the rollback of salaries. "The city employees are paying the city's bills, in effect," she said.

Decatur said that if the aldermen wish to completely cut the city's personnel in half, they will have to do it in a 50-50 manner. "I think they better get a compactor in here fast. We had a compactor, the present city clerk, but we have not had one in the last 12 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Pierson Bunce

Bunce-Black

Miss Anita Diane Black, daughter of Mrs. Thelma Black of Madison, and Robert Black of Colorado Springs, Colorado, were the bride and groom of "Perry" Jaurd Bunce on May 9 at the Jewel Box in Forest Park.

Parents of the groom are Mrs. Edna Guardiola of Madison, and Paul Bunce of St. Louis.

The Rev. Avis Richardson officiated at the double ring ceremony at 1 o'clock this afternoon.

For her wedding, the former Miss Black wore a full length A-line style gown of white qiana. The fitted bodice was designed with a lace yoke inset.

The train and long flared sleeves were also trimmed in a scallop lace.

The bride's finger tip veil bordered with a small daisy lace and she held a bouquet of red and white silk roses.

Honor attendant was Mona Black, a cousin of the bride, and the bridesmaids included Shirley Bone and Kathy Kremer.

They chose identical light blue qiana dresses fashioned with empire waists and worn with sheer blue print capes.

Sal Ochoa attended the groom as best man. David Look, a nephew of the bride, and Bill Evans served as groomsmen.

An evening reception was held at the Amalgamated Transit Union Hall in St. Louis.

Madison High School, the

Mrs. Stephen Hagopian

Hagopian-Lee

Miss Susan Elizabeth Lee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace O. Lee Jr., 311 Pickwick Court, Noblesville, Ind., became the bride of Christopher Hagopian of Canton, Mich., on Saturday, June 27, at the First Christian Church in Noblesville.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Hagopian of Grand Rapids.

Nuptial selections were provided by Miss Melanie Asadorian prior to the service.

The Rev. Khoren Hambardzumian, pastor of St. Gregory Armenian Apostolic Church, in Granite City, officiated at the 3:30 p.m. afternoon ceremony.

For her wedding, the former Miss Lee chose a full length white qiana gown fashioned with a molded lace hem, neckline and cap sleeves, accented with beaded lace motifs.

Her softly flowing skirt fell from the empire waistline. She wore a melody length qiana veil bordered with the valley trim, in a mantilla style and she held a bouquet of white gardenias intermingled with stephanotis.

Miss Joan Marie Lee, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. The bridesmaids included Mrs. Stephen Flickert and Mrs. David Andress, both sisters of the bride, and Mrs. J. Christopher Herdrich, Miss Steenie Barthrop, and Miss Cindy Paligraf.

They were attired in sleeveless suede red qiana dresses designed with tucked bodices and enhanced with lace collars. Each carried an arrangement of rubium lilies with stephanotis and baby's breath.

Erin Flickert and Talline Hagopian, nieces of the bride and groom, were also served as flower girls.

They wore identical rose qiana frocks featuring tucked bodices and lace collars and full skirts.

The groom chose Paul Arakelian of Farmington Hills, Mich., as his man. Groomsmen were Michael and Jeffrey Hagopian, brothers of the groom, Kenneth Sarajan, Joseph Saucier, Gary Najarian and Carl Leeker.

The newlywed Mr. and Mrs. Hagopian received guests at a reception given at the South Harbour Clubhouse in Noblesville, following the ceremony.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted by The Wren and North Harbour, Noblesville, for members of the wedding party.

The couple left for a wedding trip to Florida and upon their return will reside in Detroit, Mich.

The bride attended William Woods College in Fulton, Mo., and graduated from Butler University in Indianapolis, Ind., where she is presently working on her master's degree. She is a member of Alpha Chi Omega Sorority.

Her husband was graduated from Westminster College in Fulton, Mo., where he was a member of Kappa Alpha Fraternity.

Hall-Quinliven

The wedding of Miss Annie Quinliven, daughter of Mrs. Mary Quinliven, of Joliet, Ill., and Mr. and Mrs. James J. Quinliven of Chicago, and James G. Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald J. Hall, 2407 Edison Ave., was solemnized on Thursday, June 25, at St. Thomas Aquinas Church, Parkersburg, W. Va.

Attending the couple were Mary Jo Longo as honor attendant and Dale Wilhelmy as best man.

A dinner was served to members of the bridal party prior to the church service, which was followed by a reception.

Both young people, graduated from Southern Illinois University at Carbondale. The bride is doing graduate work at the University of Arkansas and

by Harold Chitwood

Ask your friends and neighbors to recommend a reputable auto service facility. Because many operations serve a relatively small area, they grow and prosper or wither and die, by word of mouth. Once the service facility has been selected, cooperate with the service team. Make an appointment at the first sign of trouble. Provide a full report of symptoms and give the technician adequate time to make a complete diagnosis and repairs. Once the repair facility knows what is wrong, it can give us a pretty good estimate of the cost of repairs. Unfortunately, it is often impossible to estimate the work needed until parts are examined or systems inspected. In these instances, the service technician will gladly call when the situation has been diagnosed and then provide an estimate.

Attend DAR workshop

Five members of the Granite City Drusilla Andrews Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, attended the spring round-table of the state DAR's Sixth Division during the weekend. Participating from here in the workshop for the officers with the division were Mrs. Barbara Williams, regent, Mrs. Richard Schwendemann, secretary, Mrs. Emma Schmid, registrar, Mrs. Willard Simpson and Mrs. Ralph Wilson.

A special guest was Mrs. Alvin Trriebel, newly elected DAR state regent. She spoke on the goals for 1981-82 and also encouraged members to take part in a Yorktown bus tour in October.

Further details concerning the tour were given by Mrs. Donald Muck who reported the 10-day trip will include visits at Yorktown, VA, Tamasi, Ga., and the Kate Bingham House in Williamsburg.

Mrs. Schwendemann led the National Anthem to open the workshop, conducted by Mrs. Donald Worley of Belleville, new Sixth Division director.

Mrs. Mary Ann Middleton, junior membership chairman, displayed an eight-room DAR doll house which will be furnished by the Illinois junior members.

The miniature house will be auctioned at the state DAR meeting in October 1982. Proceeds will be donated to the Helen Cough Fund.

Mrs. Schwendemann and Miss Paula Devore of Alton will coordinate the furnishings for a children's room in the doll house, an area designed by Mrs. Worley.

Mrs. June McCain, state librarian, announced Mrs. Schwendemann has typed a column of the 1980 Illinois Geologic Survey records from the National DAR Library in Washington, D.C., for honor roll credit for the Granite City chapter.

Mrs. Wilson named several colleges which will be the recipients of national advertising in the November issue of DAR Magazine.

Friendly Agers potluck dinner

A potluck dinner hosted by the Friendly Agers Club of the Second Baptist Church was attended by 47 members and five guests held last week in the church.

Opening prayer was offered by Womber Crisman, followed by the group singing a song.

Readings were given by Florence Paul on "Farm Girl," Alice Hoffman who read "Maturity Brings Strange Bedfellows," and Alice Hoffman on "Blessed Redeemer."

Mrs. Ruby Mayberry directed the games and the Rev. Carl Carlson presented the devotional lesson taken from the book of John.

Tentative plans were made to attend the August Craft Fair to be held at the St. Louis arch.

Each held a pink lace fan adorned with silk flowers in pink hues intermingled with baby's breath.

Veronica and Shawnae, daughters of the Rev. Carl Carlson, presented the game.

Nick Polichuk attended the group as best man. Rex Hensley, Jack and Gerald Ferry, brothers of the groom, and Richard Welty, the bride's brother, were groomsman.

Among the guests were Steve Rudolph and Larry Welty, another brother of the bride.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Welty chose a long, dusty pink polyester gown designed with an empire waist complemented with a lace long-sleeve jacket.

Miss Vickie Lynn Welty, daughter of Mrs. and Mr. Jesse L. Welty, 2240 Linden Ave., and Ronald D. Ferry, son of Mrs. Faye Ferry, Gillespie, Ill., were united in marriage on May 2 at Grace Baptist Church.

Rev. Wayne Bledsoe officiated at the double-ring ceremony at 6:30 in the evening.

During the ceremony Larry Christian presided at the organ and accompanied Alicia Popchak as she sang, "I'm a Little Teapot," "Sometimes," "The Longer," "The Wedding Song," and "God Bless This Marriage."

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a long white organza gown fastened with a pink ribbon accented with high sheer lace neckline edged with lace and cap sleeves.

Pink ribbon encircled the waistline and the long full skirt featured tiers of lace ruffles enhanced with pink bows and a scalloped edge.

Her fingertip trim was a mantilla style trimmed with lace and pink bows. She carried a cascade of silk violets and pink roses and carnations with baby's breath tied with pink and ivory ribbons.

Mrs. Frances L. Huffaker, a sister of the bride, served as matron of honor, with bridesmaids Susan and Linda Welty, other sisters of the bride, Miss Julie Vonnick and Mrs. Linda Ely.

The attendants selected suede rose qiana knit gowns with high lace necklines and lace yokes, Mrs. Huffaker was attired in an identical gown.

Each held a pink lace fan adorned with silk flowers in pink hues intermingled with baby's breath.

Navy Mothers social meet

Final plans for sponsoring a craft table on July 5 at the Fourth of July celebration to be held at Wilson Park were made by the Quad-City Navy Mothers Chapter 850.

The meeting was conducted at the VFW Hall last week with Commander Elizabeth Ramsey in charge.

The craft exhibit will be on display from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m.

The group also discussed illnesses of members and their spouses, those residing in nursing home with an agreement to send cards to those who are confined. The chapter donated money to the Madison County Nursing Home earlier this year.

Mrs. Clara Lington won the mystery prize and a special award went to Mrs. Betty Tellor. Games prizes were won by Mrs. Ramsey, Mrs. Tellor, and Bert Ellington.

A decorated cake in keeping with the Navy motif was served with ice cream and a drink to the group by hostesses Mrs. Layton and Mrs. Delta Raab.

The next business session is scheduled for July 9 at the VFW. Mrs. Ramsey noted,

LaLeche League to meet July 6

The Granite City LaLeche League will meet on Monday, July 6, at 7:30 p.m. at 24 Devon.

Discussion for the evening will center on how to establish and maintain a happy nursing relationship.

This information is for valuable information to valuable women who are presently breastfeeding their babies, a spokesman for the group added.

A question and answer session will follow the presentation. For more information those interested are advised to call 931-6774.

Former residents announce daughter

Former Granite City residents, Mr. and Mrs. David Townsend who now reside in Marion, Ill., are announcing the birth of their second child, a girl, on June 29.

The new arrival has been named Rachel and she weighed nine pounds, seven ounces. She has a 2-year-old brother David Craig and a 3-year-old sister, Mrs. Jim Townsend of Woodbridge, Va., formerly of Granite City, and the great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jim "Buster" Goodwin reside in Granite City.

DeMolay Chapter is organized

Ralph McKinney Jr., Antonio Narvaez, David Smith and Fred Trebing of James Stuart Chapter, Order of DeMolay were present.

Order of DeMolay were present. In the Situation Hill Monitors Temple, when the John Monroe Chapter were given their "Letter Temporary" from the International Supreme Council Order of DeMolay by Edward Bieser, executive officer for Illinois, through the District 16 Deputy, Howard Klaus.

Stanley J. Bloemke, Michael J. Simpson, John Sawyer, David Strand, Mark W. Dorn, Ed Murek, John Fritz and Eldon Henkem of Staunton and Andy Edwards of Edwardsburg were conferred with the initiatory and DeMolay degrees in District 16. The new chapter is the new chapter in Staunton.

Andy Edwards is the son of Edward Edwards of the local Commercial Office Products. Ralph McKinney Jr. was first vice-president in the chapter and DeMolay and Fred Trebing was orator and David Smith was a soldier in the DeMolay degree.

Darrell Faulkner is the chapter advisor of the newly instituted chapter.

Chapter Advisor Charles Meyer accompanied the local DeMolays.

Miss Tina M. Gitchoff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Gitchoff, and William L. Hayes, son of Mrs. Dorothy Hayes, 35 Snowbird Lane, exchanged wedding vows in an afternoon ceremony on May 5 at St. Nick Greek Orthodox Church.

Father Gabeil officiated at the 2:30 service and nuptial selections were provided by The Golden Greeks.

Mr. Gitchoff escorted his bride to the altar, who wore a decorated aisle and gave her a ring. She wore her dress in fashion of ivory satin. Lace and pearl motifs were applied to the bodice, enhancing the "scoop" neckline, and a ruffled hem extended into a cathedral train.

The long tapered sleeves terminated at the wrists in bridal points.

Her long Priscilla mantilla veil was decorated with ivory Alencon lace. She carried a long bouquet of gardenias, white roses, baby's breath, stephanotis with sprigs of greenery.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Fotoula Michailidis, an aunt of the bride. Guests included Mrs. Joyce Tarpoff, Mrs. Mina Dickerson, Miss Roula Higas, Miss Diane Vedaklis, cousins of the bride, and Mrs. Sherry Meyers, Miss Alice Rodel, Mrs. Sandy Janek, Miss Debbie Palchek, and the groom's sister, Mrs. Betsy Lewey.

They chose two piece formal dresses in a suede rose crepe satin designed with a lace hem and complemented with a long fitted sleeve jacket featuring pleats at the waistlines.

Each attendant carried a bouquet of blue cornflowers, leather leaf, pittosporum, rosemary, and baby's breath and statice.

Tammy Hayes, a niece of the groom, and Milo Gitchoff, the bride's cousin, served as flower girl and ring bearer. She was dressed in a yellow lace frock made with baby doll sleeves and accented with ruffles.

Odissous Michailidis, an uncle of the bride, attended the groom as best man.

Groomsmen were Earl Parsons, Charles and Jeff Hayes, brothers of the groom, Jon Tarpoff, cousin of the bride, Dwayne Dickerson, Dr. Robert Blankenship, Darrell Lindley, Joe Costello and John Hadley.

Seating the guests were Rev. and Mrs. Hayes, also brothers of the bride.

Guests were received by the newlywed Mr. and Mrs. Hayes at a reception held at the Chase Park Plaza Hotel in St. Louis. The rehearsal dinner was hosted at Charlie's Restaurant.

The bride is a junior student at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, and also works for Equitable Life Insurance Co. St. Louis.

The groom works as a plumber for George Grove Plumbing Co.

They are residing in Granite City following a Caribbean cruise.

4 on SIUC Deans' List

Approximately 2,950 students (15.3 percent of total undergraduate enrollment) were posted to the spring semester academic Deans' List at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale.

Deans' List citations go to students who compile grade-point averages meeting high performance standards set by SIUC's various schools and colleges. Grade standards range from 3.25 to 3.75 on a scale of 4.0 (perfect). A total of 931 students on the spring list made "straight A's," including Craig J. Ryterski, 2506 Cleveland Blvd.

Others on the Deans' List are: Gregor C. C. C. Gibson, 2228 Dawn; Andrew F. Hall, 2561 Edison Ave., and Steven R. Sanders, 2908 Madison Ave.

Party honors Ruby Corbitt

Mrs. Ruby Corbitt was guest of honor at a luncheon and party given in observance of her extensive work for the senior citizens in the Quad-City area.

There were about 200 guests who attended the festive gathering.

During the evening various people commented on her work which began seven years ago when she contacted Nelson Hagnauer for help in starting a senior citizens center.

A building was rented at 1918 Edison Ave., furnished by friends of the group and Mrs. Corbitt was hired after a year of volunteer work to serve as director.

In 1970 the new township center was completed and Mrs. Corbitt continued her project there.

Due to ill health now, Mrs. Corbitt plans to retire and take an extended vacation through Tennessee, Mississippi and Florida.

Hosts for the affair were Misses Mary Edie Haddock, who assisted the honoree during the initial years of organization, and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Crawley and Carol Hart.

Some 150 people were present by Jay Corbitt, her son, and a gift of money was presented to her from other guests. She also received a plaque given to her by Randall and Linda Irwin.

Erin Thomas marks birthday

Erin Thomas celebrated her 18th birthday with a party given at Wilson Park during the weekend hosted by her mother, Mrs. Beverly Thomas and grandmother, Mrs. Ethel Long.

Guests were followed by refreshments of ice cream and cake.

Guests attending included Ann, Frank, Carol and Sandra, Kelly, Chris Polach, Billy and Christina Wiese, Eric, Kristina, Tom, Columban, Linda, Joyce Smith, Ricky Motes, Kirk Mackintosh, Tiffany Rippie, Kim and Pam Coad, Nic, Jeff, Mikel, Fisher, Paul Janco, Elen Thomas, Mrs. Ellenda Rippie, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Guenther, Debora Polach and Terry Polach.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Bulva

Bulva-Firtos

St. Mary's Catholic Church in Madison, was the scene of the wedding on May 22 of Miss Patricia Ann Firtos, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Firtos, 2625 Edison Ave., and Victor James Bulva, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Bulva, 1230 Iowa St., Madison.

The Rev. Conrad Motola officiated at the double ring ceremony at 6 o'clock in the evening, before a seated audience, dressed in blue and white carnations.

Vocalist Pat Lavin sang, "Born Again," "Our Father," "Wedding Song," and "Ave Maria."

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Firtos selected a pastel pink jersey formal gown designed with a Chantilly lace top and long sleeves. She wore pink and white carnations.

The groom's mother was attired in a long lavender polyester dress created with chiffon sleeves and pleated skirt. Her wristlet corsage was made up of lavender carnations.

The decorative trim enhanced the Queen Anne neckline and created the cuffs on the bishop style sleeves.

Lace motifs were applied to the skirt which was encircled with crystal pleating and extended into a Chapel train.

She wore a Chantilly lace hat with a finger tip veil attached. Her bouquet of blue and white carnations was formed in a heart shape.

The groom was graduated from South High School in 1973 and served four years with the U.S. Air Force. He currently is employed at Granite City Steel.

Named soloist

Mary McCormack, a graduate student at Illinois University at Edwardsville, has been chosen by Philip Paetz, conductor of the Belleville Symphony, to be his soloist in Beethoven's Concerto No. 1 for a public concert in early December.

A native of Philadelphia, Miss McCormack is studying with the University of Illinois in residence and will appear in the concert.

The concert will be Miss McCormack's debut as a professional artist.

Miss McCormack is the fourth SIUE pianist this year to be chosen as an orchestral soloist. In May, Dan Vizer of the City appeared with the SIUE Student Ensemble and Sunwhee Yoon of Seoul, Korea performed with the SIUE Symphony, and Gary Graves of Centreville, Miss. played with the Jackson Symphony in Jackson, Miss.

The groom, chose his best man, Bob Firtos, the bride's brother, Bill and Roger Bulva, brothers of the groom, and Karl Amberg served as groomsmen.

$12,000 damage at Parkview School

Vandals broke into Parkview School, 3200 Maryville Road, one week ago today and caused damage estimated at between $10,000 and $12,000, according to school authorities. Repairs have been under way all week. The vandals, who remain at large, used claw hammers to break 101 interior windows, 11 outside windows, seven mirrors, seven toilets, three wash basins, 11 cafeteria tables, numerous pieces of audio-visual equipment, typewriters, water coolers, light fixtures, a soft drink vending machine, ceiling tiles, clocks, and other items. Numerous holes were punched in walls and food and school records were scattered on the floors. Shown clockwise from the left are the mess left in a secretary's office; maintenance men Gordon Faloni (seated) and Dean Orani repairing broken windows; smashed glass in the cafeteria serving line, and the general ransacking of one classroom. The photos were taken by Warren Collins, the district's curriculum coordinator.

Interest rate ceilings may be removed

The bill, HB 438, was passed Monday by the Illinois House of Representatives, after concurrence with a Senate amendment, and sent to the governor.

It was sponsored in the House by Speaker George Ryan (R-Kankakee) and former House Speaker Ray Williamson (D-Bensenville) and in the Senate by Senate President Philip Rock (D-Oak Park) and Senate Minority Leader David Shapiro (R-Amboy).

The amendment states that higher interest rates could be charged only on debts incurred after the date the consumer is notified of the interest rate increase.

The vot was 98 for and 46 against.

If the measure is signed into law, it will result in the removal of interest rate limits on mortgages, contracts for deed, consumer and retail installment loans, revolving loans, consumer finance loans, revolving sales agreements and credit union loans.

It would amend state law to allow the state to determine the interest rate on loans and would become effective immediately after being signed.

The report was prepared by the Food and Nutrition

Service Office of Policy Planning and Evaluation. The national school lunch program served more than four billion meals to nearly 27 million school children fiscal year 1980.

GEARY ACT

The exclusion of Chinese laborers from the United States was extended for 10 years by the Geary Chinese Exclusion Act of May 5, 1892.

TOOLS ARE TAKEN
An electric skilsaw, an electric rip saw and an electric impact wrench were stolen from the construction site of the Assembly of God Church, 10th and Broad avenues, on Monday. A piece of metal siding next to a door was pushed back to gain entry. Police will be notified if additional items are found to be missing, the victim said.

Camp Sunnen gets 'A' rating for 28th year

By MICK STRANGE
of the Press-Record

Camp Sunnen, near Potosi, (Mo.), the summer camp of the Cahokia Mound Council, Boy Scouts of America, has received an "A" rating for the 28th straight year.

The camp was inspected Wednesday afternoon by a regional inspection team.

Camp Sunnen opened in the summer of 1953 with what was thought of as a revolutionary idea of patrol cooking by the Scouts themselves, as compared to central dining hall feeding.

However, the camp's Scout leaders said it was not new, but rather a return to the basic Lord Baden-Powell method of Scouting when the program was started in England.

Sunnen soon gained national recognition and, in other councils, nationally following the example of Sunnen with each Scout patrol doing its own cooking in the forest.

The inspectors check 100 different items of health and safety to quality of program.

The North Central Regional inspectors were Robert Smith, Gene
Frederick, Henry Jackson and Carl Gardner.

Scout leaders escorting the inspectors were W. Jean Grimaud, vice-president for program of the Cahokia Mound Council;
Ron Luebber, program chairman; Jack Vizer and Henry Helrich of the local camping committee; Mark
Bray, camp director, and Scout Executive William Monical.

Sunnen is used the year around for troop camping Explorer activities and adult training courses.

BAC renewing its Washington School lease

Belleville Area College, which has leased the former Washington School as a daytime college instructional center for the past seven years, last week renewed the lease for the 1981-82 year.

The building on West 20th Street has access to Illinois Highway Three and, after completion of the 19th Street overpass, will no longer be separated from central Granite City by a railroad crossing.

extends from year to year unless either party gives at least 60 days' written notice prior to the end of the lease term.

No rent is charged, but BAC is responsible for all utility costs, security, custodial services, building maintenance and repairs, and insurance required by BAC, as well as insurance on furniture, vandalism, personal injury and property liability.

Any defective mechanical equipment is replaced with the school district and college dividing the cost.

In a separate matter, the Granite City Board of Education has granted an easement across the grounds of Prather Junior High School to Illinois Power Co.
A natural gas line will supply sufficient gas to operate the Prather boiler, and also will be the future supply of gas for a proposed industrial park west of the school property.

In exchange for the easement, Illinois Power has reduced by $1,000 the charge to move the present Prather gas meter location to the rear of the building.

The INA Insurance Company has paid a $27,353 settlement to the Granite City district for repair of April 3 tornado damage to Mitchell School and Lake School roofs.

The most extensive wind damage was at Mitchell, where the district received a new Derbigum single-ply roof on 14,500 square feet of the 1963-64 addition. The roof material carries a 10-year guarantee.

Granite City High School
South will be used July 15-17 for a Southern Illinois University at Carbondale clinic for volleyball teachers. Permission for the usage was granted to Wilma Schulze.

The school district has agreed to pay the generally prevailing rate of wages for laborers, mechanics and other workers engaged in public construction work.

The rate is computed by the Illinois Department of Labor.

"Operator error" was the cause of the explosion-like rupture June 22 at the deep hole pump station at the Granite City Army Installation, according to Lt. Col. Chester Tutor, installation commander.

Lt. Col. Tutor said preliminary reports indicate that there were four men, including the operator, inside the pump station when the rupture occurred, "crippling" the Granite City wastewater treatment plant. The city plant is too far down to be used, so the Army operated pump station to pump treated wastewater from the plant to the Mississippi River when the river stage rises above the 22-foot mark.

There were no serious injuries caused by the "explosion," but one man did suffer a small laceration on the wrist and another suffered a small cut to one hand. Both men, and the two men not injured, remained at the site after the rupture and aided in the emergency operations.

Granite City firemen and police and the Granite City Fire Department responded initially to the Army installation to help in emergency pumping operations needed to keep raw sewage from overflowing the 6,000,000 stormwater storage tanks. The "explosion" occurred when a gate between the pump station and the river was in the down or closed position and three of the five pumps at the station were switched on to pump treated sewage out of the city's plant. One pump, which was ripped from its foundation and thousands of gallons of water flooded the building and short circuited the pump control panels.

The four men were in the building to start the priming of the pumps before they were to be put into operation, according to the installation commander.

The wastewater from the plant was diverted to the stormwater treatment tank along with the sewage running into the plant from the city. Around-the-clock emergency pumping was started immediately to pump the sewage over nearby levee into the river.

On Tuesday morning, water that had already been treated was allowed to overflow a "clean" water holding tank to help reduce the flow into the 6,000,000 tank.

Lt. Col. Tutor said that an investigating officer has been assigned to the case and a report of exactly what happened and why should be completed in a few weeks.

Initial repair costs have been estimated at $100,000. Sixty-three windows, several doors and backup batteries in the station have been replaced which accounts for most of the estimated cost.

The complete investigation should indicate the extent of the damages to the station including the pumps and controls in addition to the cosmetic damages.

Lt. Col. Tutor said that the pumps will probably have to be dismantled and thoroughly checked for seal breaks and other possible damage. This extensive work will have to be done during the dry season when there is little chance of high water to necessitate the use of the pump station.

Initial reports indicate no serious damage to the pumps, but the extensive examination will have to be done so that no other unexpected problems at the pump station arise.

The commander said that cost of this type of inspection could run as high as $125,000 to $200,000.

Illinois Environmental Protection Agency officials were at the pump station site throughout Monday night and a walk-through inspection was made Tuesday morning. The officials voiced their praise of the emergency operations and the quickness of the initial reactions to the "explosion."

Chief Police Ronald J. Verner reported to the Army command, and the Army has pledged that reports on what happened to cause the pump station to malfunction will be provided to the city so that it can be determined if the city will be responsible for any of the repair costs.

The city and the Army have a contract which calls for the city to pay 60 percent of the costs incurred at the pump station, but some aldermen question if that agreement would be binding if it is found that the rupture was of no fault of the city.

LATEST EQUIPMENT. A new self-contained breathing apparatus, one of five just received by the Granite City Fire Department, is demonstrated by Fireman Keith Talley for other firefighters. The five complete breathing units were purchased with a $2,000 grant from the Madison County Firemen's Association and

State agrees township assessments too high

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record
(With a series)

Disagreements with township assessors' decisions was at the root of most county-level assessment certificates of error obtained during the 1970s, an Illinois Division of Criminal Investigation (DCI) study of Madison County makes clear.

The state sided with the county and against township-set valuations in a number of instances.

Many protesting owners assumed that certificates of error were the appropriate way to challenge property tax valuations, rather than hearings.

The DCI says most such certificates bypassed the courts, and should not have. Procedures have since been revised to include action by an associate judge of the Third Circuit.

Some of the assessment records show a "zig-zag" course for the values of properties, depending on whether a township or the county— and sometimes the state— was giving its interpretation of the taxable value.

Among those displeased with township-level valuations was Local 369 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

The local constructed a 9,288 square foot building in the Collinsville area starting in 1968 and occupied it in July 1969.

The 14-foot-tall brick structure was 137 feet wide and, in some portions, 96 feet deep, according to a rock.

A blacktop area at the site surrounded the union hall and totaled 47,311 square feet. There was 370-foot frontage along Highway 157 and 180-foot depth.

The original building permit was for a $200,000 structure.

For 1975, a $155,900 figure again was proposed, cut to $80,000.

Taxes paid for 1974-75-76-77 amounted to $3,080, $3,198, $3,213 and $3,184, although the public tax books continued

Food stamp income levels up

Illinois Public Aid Director Jeffrey C. Miller announced this week that food stamp income levels will be increased.

The adjustment reflects rising food prices.

The monthly income and coupon allotment amounts are based on the U.S. Department of Agriculture Thrifty Food Plan. The amount of the increase will depend on the size and income of the household involved.

maximum coupon allotment are:

One, $560 and $70.
Two, $475 and $126.
Three, $590 and $193.
Four, $705 and $223.
Five, $820 and $277.
Six, $935 and $332.
Seven, $1,050 and $367.
And eight persons, $1,165 and $412.

Households with more than eight members will receive a $115 income adjustment and a $53 allotment adjustment per person.

Persons are to apply at their local public aid office, where eligibility will be determined based on income, assets, and size of family.

Persons eligible for participation, households will receive a food stamp authorization to participate.

Additional information about the food stamp program is available at local public aid offices or by calling the toll-free food stamp hotline: 800-972-4608.

Honor 16 at awards dinner

Seven persons received nine awards and nine received appreciation awards during the annual AFL-CIO Union Counselor Awards Dinner held at the Carpenters' District Council Hall of Madison County and Vicinity, Ill., Thursday evening.

Twenty-six persons attended the event and saw a film of Hubert Humphrey's last major speech in September.

Desegregation plan will go to state

By LISA LUTZ
of the Press-Record

Madison County Board members will submit a desegregation proposal to the Illinois State Board of Education that some board members believe will be rejected by the state. The board conducted a special public meeting Thursday night on the desegregation plan.

The board will propose an open enrollment plan (students have the option to pick their own school), which is basically the same as the system under which they are operating now. The change being that the school district will now provide necessary transportation.

If this plan does not work, the board will take steps that they deem necessary to meet state racial requirements.

Board member Donald Garrett proposed an amendment to the board which provoked opposition from some of the board members. Garrett's plan, which would have been submitted with the board's proposal, included busing 24 students from both the Harris and Blair school. The students would be selected by a random alphabetical system.

The plan also contained the provision that each student selected would be bused for one year only. Kindergarteners would not be bused.

"This amendment would immediately put us in the position of busing all the land," Garrett told the board members. The motion to add the plan to the board's proposal was seconded by board member James Newsome.

Board member Paul Biegel opposed, stating "You can't submit two plans."

to the state at the same time."

Garnett, testifying before the board, said that his plan was only a "back up" plan, in the event that the one to be submitted does not work. The amendment was rejected by a vote of six to two.

The plan which will be submitted to the state board was accepted on a six to two vote with Garrett and Newsome opposing it.

There were approximately 25 parents in attendance, but no comments were expressed by them during the meeting.

When asked if the plan would work, Mrs. Billie Bosworth, a board member, replied, "We won't know until we try." Her opinion was shared by some other board members. "I hope it will work," Newsome said. Garnett said that the reason his addition to the plan was rejected is because of board members' fears that parents will remove their children from the Madison district if they are busied. Garrett contend that the plan being submitted to the state is not in accordance with state regulations. He indicated that the state wants a firm plan, contrary to the one which is going to go before the state board.

"Keep the state board will throw it out," Garrett told the Press-Record.

"I think this will work," the Rev. Harold Wilson, a parent, said of the volunteer group. "You have to open the door for people," he concluded.

Water company to flush test area fire hydrants

During the next two weeks, the Illinois-American Water Co. will test all of its fire hydrants in the cities of Madison, and Venice and Nameoki Township. Each July 6 to 10, in the remainder of Madison, Madison High School area, Cloverleaf, and Eagle Park.

July 10, Nameoki Township area, within the Long Lake Fire District.

July 13 to 15, city of Venice.

"This will include the testing and inspecting of all fire hydrants in the water main lines, and there will be some discoloration in the water in the immediate area of the flushing."

The flushing and testing schedule is as follows:

July 10, Nameoki Township area, within the Long Lake Fire District.

July 13 to 15, city of Venice.

Madison girl in St. Louis parade

Angela Kay Grupas, 19, Washington Ave., Madison, is one of 10 young women, representing various patriotic and ethnic organizations who may be seen on a special float in Saturday's Veiled Prophet Parade in St. Louis.

Miss Grupas, a member of the Polish-American Cultural Society of Greater St. Louis, will represent the society on the "Ethnic Queens" float.

The parade, starting at 3 p.m. Saturday, at Busch Memorial Auditorium and Spruce Street, is part of the three-day Veiled Prophet Fair on the St. Louis Riverfront, which opens Friday.

Over 40 major floats will be featured in the annual parade, led by the world famous Clydesdale brewery horses of Anheuser-Busch and the float bearing the Veiled Prophet of Krasnass, His Queen and Court.

Marching bands, mounted groups, clowns, ant vehicles and dignitaries will be interspersed throughout the event.

Floats will depict the St. Louis World's Fair theme of "Meet Me in St. Louis, Louis."

Other queens riding with Miss Grupas will represent Jamaica, the Philippines, Latin America, Ireland, the Netherlands, Korea, Germany, Hungary and Sweden.

The parade will conclude at LaSalle Street at Laclede's Landing about 5 p.m. Saturday.

The local queen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert (Connie) Grupas and a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Majkut, all of Madison.

She is a senior at Granite City High School and South American.

Flowers & Gifts

Ron Kehil

We all wish that money would grow on trees but have only discovered that it does not. However, for special occasions, I can. If you are planning a retirement, rent or bachelor party, or for that matter any kind of gathering where a gift might be appropriate to give to the guest of honor, consider arranging the money on a money tree. Coins or bills can be placed on one of our large green plants such as a fig tree (Benzoin), and a bow and ribbon to make an attractive decoration and gift. We would be glad to design one especially for you.

We hope you'll remember the next time you want flowers. There is always a fine choice available at BETTY & BOB'S FLOWERS AND GIFTS, 2156 PONTOON ROAD, 877-2140. We supply the markets, while the rest of you are sleeping.

Special education director takes position in Missouri

Larry R. Dew, director of Madison County Special Education Region I, serving the Quad-City area, is leaving to become school board manager of the Cape Girardeau, Mo., school district.

Dew's new position is effective July 1.

A successor here is to be chosen by the Quad-City Special Education Board, subject to ratification by the Board of Education of the Granite City schools, the Region I administrative district. The special education board is headed by Donald Stroh.

The special education region serves 1,700 students in the Granite City, Madison and Venice school districts.

of instruction of the handicapped.

Region I has 80 employees. Along with his experience in administering the special education program, he has done graduate study for the past three years at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, in the specialty of educational business management.

Region I, residing at 9 Riviera Drive, and his wife, Judith, and their daughters, Lynda, 10, and Laura, nine, students at Frohardt Elementary School. The family will be moving to Cape Girardeau this summer.

Dew taught for two years with the U.S. government on the island of Guam and was a teacher for two years at Freeport, Ill.

Born in Monmouth, Ill., he was supervisor of special education here for one year before being named director of the special education region in June 1972.

At the time of his appointment as director, Dew said his chief goals were to "get more money from children" and to "expand educational services to three- and four-year-olds."

He said today he believes that considerable progress was made toward both objectives.

He said, "There remain a problem, there have been many advances in special education locally and elsewhere during the past decade, he is convinced."

Past secretary and past president of the Granite City Rotary Club, he was the 1980-81 chairman of the Rotary prayer breakfast or small enough so that a child's head cannot get caught; equipment anchoring devices that hold firmly to the ground.

Play equipment should be installed at least six feet from trees, shrubs and other structures. Anchor it firmly in a grassy or soft ground surface, never on a concrete or other hard-paved surface.

If you want to anchor the legs in concrete, be sure to use a concrete mix.

Bill to deter drunk driving given approval

State Senator Sam Vadalabene, Edwardsville, has announced the passage of Senate Bill 457 to curb intoxicated drivers.

He was a co-sponsor of the proposal, which originated in the Motor Vehicle Laws Commission. Vadalabene is one of the senior members of this commission and is presently serving as vice-chairman.

Sen. Vadalabene said the bill, now awaiting executive action, can provide Illinois with the best statutory language known in this country to identify and remove the drunkards who are impaired from alcohol or other drugs.

Auto consumer action program

For consumers who have complaints concerning their automobile purchases, the Illinois Automotive Consumer Action Program is being sponsored by the Illinois Office of Consumer Affairs, New Car and Truck Dealers Association, and the National Automobile Dealers Association, and endorsed by the White House.

"AUTOCAP" is part of a major consumer protection program by the National Automobile Dealers Association, and endorsed by the White House.

Office of Consumer Affairs, New Car and Truck Dealers Association.

In announcing the start of the Illinois program, Les Sander, president of the "Consumer Action Organization," said, "Dealers want to resolve complaints against their businesses. AUTOCAP can help create better consumer relations by providing dealers and consumers a forum to work together constructively on auto problems."

"It can help open lines of communication between dealers and consumers by putting consumers in direct touch with dealership personnel who have authority to handle complaints. Most problems are settled right at the dealership, once the problem is made known and communication has been established."

"AUTOCAP can also mediate complaints informally when a problem cannot be resolved at the dealer level."

Red Cross top award for lifesaving to Donna Hall

By TERRY MACKIN
of the Press-Record

Mrs. Donna Pratt Hall does not consider herself to be a heroine. In fact, she hates the word, and feels that she did only what anyone else would have done in the same circumstances.

But the Red Cross and Rev. Roy Lynn disagree.

Last Feb. 8, Mrs. Hall was attending services at the First Baptist Church in Granite City, just as she had for the past year and a half. But as she entered the church, she noticed that an older man was being escorted down the aisle.

From past experience and by the frightened look on the man's face, she could sense it was serious. From her past training in the Red Cross, she felt compelled to help.

Rev. Lynn is alive today because she did.

Mrs. Hall first checked Lynn's pulse. There was none. Then she, along with a friend, Nancy Greer, who is also a member of the Third Baptist Church, administered CPR to Lynn, and when she stopped breathing, a half minutes to respond to the treatment. Lynn regained enough strength to enter St. Elizabeth Medical Center in Granite City by ambulance.

Two weeks later, Lynn was back in church.

For her efforts, Mrs. Hall received the Certificate of Merit Award at the annual Tri-City Chapter American Red Cross dinner meeting Friday night at Township Hall in Granite City. The award is the highest the Red Cross gives to members acting in a non-emergency effort.

But Mrs. Hall was the only person to receive recognition at the dinner by the over 85 people in attendance.

Retiring chairman Jim Wofford received a large round of applause as he handed the gavel over to the new chairman of the Tri-City Chapter of the Red Cross,

Mr. Mike Kahn. Wofford was the first to speak. His humorous look at society and his efforts to "look and feel good all of the time" brought laughter from the smaller than expected crowd.

After the dinner, Lynn drew the most attention after the dinner had ended. Several people shook her hand, some just stared at the certificate. All agreed that she deserved the honor.

Except maybe Mrs. Hall herself.

the following picnic punch — a perfect concoction to mix in a washtub or a block of ice.

Don't be afraid of the forthcoming proportions; remember, that recipe will quench the thirst of 100 people or so.

In the washtub — punch bowl — mix in a block of ice or two blocks of cracked ice.

Stir 1-2 packets of Kool-Aid and cut up 12 lemons and pour over the ice. Then, add 1 gallon of orange juice, 1/2 gallon of white wine and 1 pint of light rum. The white wine to blend better with these flavors should be a dry, semi-sweet, donnay, chenin blanc or Sauvignon blanc. As an added touch to a hot day, serve in tall, frosted glasses.

Hopes course will update TV programming

When Belleville Area Donald Distler derides the quality of television programming it's more than idle talk.

He sees his participation in initiating a two-year experiment in television technology as a step toward upgrading program content for school District 522 residents.

Distler will serve as the local contact for students enrolled in the nationally produced "Introduction to Data Processing" course "Making It Count." The telecourse will air at 6:15 a.m. Tuesdays this fall on KETC-TV, Channel 9.

The course, which is a study of the computer in our society, including the need for data processing, development of computers, components of computers and the impact of computers on business management, adapts well to TV.

"The computer and TV are a lot alike," he began. "Neither imposes limitations on you or I as to how they will be used. They should not be limited to entertainment. It's valuable media for education," he continued. "I'm interested in trying new techniques and exploring and finding new and exciting ways to do things." Data processing is one of three courses that will be offered by BAC via television this fall. General Psychology and History of Japan also will be broadcast.

Distler was skeptical about the programs at first, he said.

"Before I viewed the tapes, I was very negative about it, but after seeing how well it's done, I changed my mind," he said. "I'm very impressed with the company that put it together."

The course is prepared by the Educational and Training Division of Boeing Computer Services Company.

Distler believes his course will attract students because the need for people to understand computers is increasing daily.

"The computer has become such a popular device, the general public is becoming more dependent on it," he stressed. "A lot of people today have extreme fears of computers just because they don't understand them."

He believes the course to attract those who are unable to attend classes at the BAC main campus or its extension centers.

"I think my students will be women with children who can't get a babysitter and

Little change in new park budget

A new tentative Granite City Park District budget of $371,773, a reduction of $5,947 below that of last year, was publicly posted by the Park Board at a regular meeting last week.

The new appropriation for the 1981-82 year projects a total budget of $318,373 for general corporate purposes against total available funds of $365,479 which includes $281,753 in a balance at the beginning of the year.

This compares with last year's corporate purposes budget of $489,401 against available funds of $664,993 including a beginning year balance of $227,319.

The tentative budget bill also includes $313,393 for recreational purposes, $20,929 for principal retirement, $15,934 for debt liability and $3,150 for auditing.

The general fund budget includes $95,994 for administration purposes, $192,998 for parks, $59,425 for concession stand operation, and $126,135 for operation of the ice rink.

For neighborhood parks

the board budgeted $75,246 for administration purposes and set $165,556 for Wilson Park, $42,641 for Community Park, $10,000 for the Nameoki Recreation Center.

The budget will remain on public post for 30 days before final action is taken by the board.

Mental Health Services is a private, not-for-profit organization that serves all residents in the southern half of Madison County. The administrative offices are at 2024 State St., Granite City.

Information on the various services is available in Highland at 654-7232, in Edwardsville at 656-8721, or by contacting Janice Mayberry at 2024 State, Granite City 62040, (telephone 877-420).

to indicate that taxes were being paid on a much higher assessment.

Mr. Peter Pollett, board agent of the Electrical Workers local, and the DCT that "in the early 1970s, when the tax bills came, union lawyer Charles Warner and union member Don Hill protested the high assessments to the Collinsville Township assessor and then to the Board of Review, and finally to the State Appeals Board."

...pollett advised a reduction because the building was used primarily for classrooms, and they were a non-profit organization.

"The state board approved their request. But each year, Faust would have to go to the Madison County assessor's office and request a reduction for the same reason."

"Faust stated that he believed he went through the proper procedure.

BAC maintenance pay raised; new budget totals $11 million

The Belleville Area College Board of Trustees President Robert Dintelmann said, "The $11 million budget, which was proposed through agreement with maintenance workers, approved an $11.3 million budget for the 1981-82 year and voted pay hikes for administrators."

Six BAC maintenance workers were given a three-year contract with 11 percent pay raises each year.

In 1981-82, their hourly wage will increase from $8.64, in 1982-83 to $9.92 per hour, and in 1983-84 to $11.01 an hour.

The three-year contract will cost BAC an additional $36,940, BAC Vice-President Bill Beckner said. James Hines told the board,

"The college has employed six maintenance staff members for the past five years," Hines said. "We added 570 square feet in Phase III this year with no additional maintenance help."

The college maintenance employees are members of the Illinois Service Employees Union. The contract is effective July 1. "It is an unusual and pleasant occurrence when an employee contract comes to the board prior to the expiration of the current agreement," Board

"The building that Local 309 owns is approximately 70 percent classrooms and office space, and 30 percent is office space."

"Faust advised that he did not see any one individual at the assessment office—that he would call and make an appointment with the board."

Collinsville Assessor Peter Pollett Jr. described the property on May 21, 1979, as a mall on Route 157 south of Interstate 70.

He said that the "same building built today at today's current prices would be in the area of over $400,000."

"Pollett can see no reason for a reduction by the county Board of Review to the assessed valuation of $60,000 ($180,000 estimated actual value)."

"The reasons indicated on the certificates of error are checked as mistakes in computation on all of the certificates except for the 1974 tax year, which shows a reason of 'partial.'"

James Barton, Madison County assessor, assessed later told the DCT that "he does not know anyone there (Local 309) personally, and that the worth of the building is unknown to him."

"The property could possibly be exempt, however, and if the property was an exempt property, then they would have no assessment."

"The property is used in part for classroom."

"Barton advised that the property was reduced by the board in Springfield, and that the previous tax assessor of Collinsville Township, Assessor Smiley, would then raise the property back up to Smiley's original assessment."

Prenatal class open to teens

Family Service and Visiting Nurse Association (FSVNA), 211 N. Broadway, Alton, is again offering a series of prenatal classes geared specifically to meeting the needs of unwed pregnant teenagers.

The classes will be held on Mondays from 1 to 3:30 p.m., beginning July 6 and ending Aug. 3. There will be no charge for the classes.

Each of the classes will include an hour educational presentation, a body toning exercise session and will conclude with a supportive discussion group with FSVNA counselor Renée Bauer.

The educational presentations will be conducted by Elizabeth Ann Zelenka, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Zelenka, 2093 Iowa St., has received her bachelor of science degree in nursing from the University of Illinois, Chicago Medical Center. She is now residing in Chicago, where she has accepted a nursing position in the surgical unit at Rush-Presbyterian Hospital.

Miss Zelenka's parents and sisters attended the graduation and pinning ceremony.

The graduate also was among the 1981 recipients of a "Leadership Award," presented by the Alumni Association at its 10th annual "Leadership Recognition Dinner" in May.

While attending Illinois University, Miss Zelenka served as president of the Junior Class and was selected to appear in Who's Who in American Colleges.

Registration for the classes can be made through Renée Bauer by calling 463-5905.

ELIZABETH ZELENKA Accepts Post

Receives award for leadership

Elizabeth Ann Zelenka, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Zelenka, 2093 Iowa St., has received her bachelor of science degree in nursing from the University of Illinois, Chicago Medical Center.

Topics to be covered include: resources for the unwed; pregnant woman; body changes during pregnancy; nutrition for development; labor and delivery; post-partum care; and care of the newborn.

A tour of St. Joseph Hospital's maternity ward is planned for the final meeting. Although the classes will not focus on LaMaze (natural childbirth training), participants can be referred to a LaMaze training class, should they be unsuccessful at locating a class.

Registration for the classes can be made through Renée Bauer by calling 463-5905.

Brad was a healthy 12-year-old until the oil drum exploded.

Mr. and Mrs. (real name) had been walking down an alley setting off ladyfingers when he found the oil drum, still filled with fumes. What would happen if the 12-year-old had wondered, if he set off one of his firecrackers inside the drum?

The explosion blinded one of Brad's eyes and scorched his face. It ripped off a piece of his drum's top, which sliced into Brad's forehead, puncturing his brain to the top of his head. He was in the Carter's hospital six months.

Brad's case is one of many where fireworks cause serious fires or explosions. These accidents make fireworks even more dangerous than they normally are, according to Jack Carter, State Fire Marshal.

"It's what kids do with them," Carter said. "The 12-year-old had been walking down an alley setting off ladyfingers when he found the oil drum, still filled with fumes. What would happen if the 12-year-old had wondered, if he set off one of his firecrackers inside the drum?"

Subsidence tests crucial

By MARK RESMAN, Staff Writer
Pictures produced by technicians cameras lowered this week into bore holes beneath the District 11 Illinois State Police headquarters may be crucial in helping an engineering firm decide what should be done with the undermined building.

The Illinois Department of Mines and Minerals sent cameras down into the bore holes Tuesday and again today, taking pictures of the mines below. The pictures will determine the condition of the mines and how much more subsidence could occur.

According to Lt. James Stever, administrative officer for District 11, the TV viewing is actually the second phase in the testing operation.

Stevers said first soil samples were taken at a depth of about 80 feet. Then holes were drilled about 230 feet deep, and the cameras went down.

Frucos Engineering, the firm contracted by the Illinois Department of Law Enforcement to conduct the tests, will submit a report stating the suitability of the current site for present and future use.

The report from Frucos may be released in August or September, Stever said.

He added that moving the headquarters isn't the only alternative if the condition of the area very degrades. Other alternatives could be chosen.

"A floating foundation could be used," Stever said.

"Shopping centers

frequently use them."

The problem of subsidence at the headquarters was first

"The capital development board had just released $342,000 for the remodeling of the building. About a week later the cracks started occurring and the board then had the funds," Stever said.

From that day on he said he has had to live with the subsidence problems.

Last February, "tremors" which hit the building forced officials to dismantle the 100-foot radio tower. Meanwhile, cracks continue to plague the structure, both inside and out.

Stevers said upon completion of the study, results will be forwarded to the Department of Law Enforcement. A final decision will then be made on the future of the site.

The testing has taken place over the past two weeks, and Stever said he thought it would continue for another week.

Last week, workers found a vented shaft believed to have been part of the Donk Brothers mine, closed in 1922.

"From the maps I've studied, I think we may be above Donk Bros. No. 1 and No. 2," Stever said.

Moonrock samples to be displayed

Samples of the moon, picked up by Apollo 11 astronauts on the first landing in July, 1969, will be on display during an aerospace workshop Wednesday, July 1 at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Bob Williams, associate professor of elementary education and workshop director, said the display is part of his teacher training workshop in science education. The sessions are held in cooperation with the National Aerospace and Space Administration.

John Hartfield, education specialist at NASA, will bring samples of the moon's highland soil, pebble size pieces of moon rock and other surface samples. The display, encased in a lucite disk, can also be studied under a stereo microscope. Moon sampling is one part of the two-week aerospace workshop that helps teachers understand the science of rocketry and flight by launching a miniature space ship into a hot air balloon and flying to Washington, D.C. in military aircraft. The workshop ends with studies in the Smithsonian Institution's Air and Space Museum.

The lunar sample display at SIUE will be open to the public at 3 p.m. in Building III, Room 1314. For additional information, interested persons may contact Bob Williams at 692-3082.

Seniors mark Father's Day

"Father's Day" was observed at Tri-City's meeting of the Mountain Merrimac Club at the Granite City Township Center.

Gifts were awarded in honor of the occasion to Tom Crawley, Earl Marti and Cleveland Cox. A cowboy dish dinner featured beef and noodles and among the guests were Dorothy Henninger, Dick Mizell, Ruth Mallon and Gladys Freeman.

The tables were decorated with miniature flags in memory of fallen heroes.

Lester Thiele, president, welcomed the guests and read a poem. Martin Schulte led The Lord's Prayer and pledged to the flag.

Games were enjoyed and the following awards included: Irene Claxton, Jessie Stoyanoff, Rose Marie Breyer, Edgar and Grace Paddock, Della Raab, Katie Colligan, Lucille Pierce, Evelyn Morgan and Juanita Crawley.

Payments of $95.91 each, less such deductions as withholding taxes and pension contributions, were part of last week's Granite City teacher payroll.

The checks will go to 629 who were employed as faculty members during the 1979-80 school year, at a regular final order in a court case.

The full amount is due to go to 613 teachers. The other 16 taught for various portions of the year and will receive lesser shares.

The grant of $95,912 is being distributed under an order issued by Associate Judge Edward C. Ferguson. He amended the figure to correct a mathematical error in a tentative ruling. The school board, district and Local 43, American Federation of Teachers, agreed to the decision and will not appeal it.

The lawsuit by Local 743 contended that the school system, during negotiations, implied that a specified number would be hired when it utilized a staff size estimate. The estimate was used to divide a total wage offer among individuals, it was argued.

The added payment takes into account a finding that the faculty size failed to reach the estimated figure during the year.

Completion of the case is believed likely to set the stage for initial negotiations on terms of an agreement for the period beginning July 1.

The price of most gasoline grades decreased for the second month in a row in the AAA-Auto Club of Missouri's monthly survey of 55 stations on main highways in Missouri and nearby Illinois and Kansas. While the price of full-service regular fell one cent since the May survey prices for full-service unleaded and for self-service regular and unleaded fell from one to two cents.

Cost-conscious motorists can find a wide array of prices. The survey shows a range from $1.25 to $1.46 for full-service regular and from $1.27 to $1.47 for full-service unleaded. Motorists willing to pump their own gasoline could pay from $1.19 to $1.29 for self-service regular and from $1.25 to $1.43 for self-service unleaded.

The Independence Day holiday should pose little problem for travelers seeking for gasoline along major highways.

Cubs compete in fishing derby

Cub Scout Pack 122 sponsored by Wilson School PTA held its second annual fishing derby June 20 at the Madison County Baptist Association grounds in Granite City.

A trophy for most fish caught was presented to Webelos Jerry Dawes. A second place ribbon was presented to Webelos Jerry Lipochik.

A trophy for most fish caught was presented to Cub Allen Ledbetter. A second place ribbon was awarded Steve Taft and Phillip Stucker won the third place ribbon. A trophy for longest was won by Cub Bobby Lipochik.

Davey Robertson won the trophy for largest fish among others competing in the derby. Patti Lipochik and her brother Mike tied for most fish caught. They agreed to share the trophy.

Other Cubs participating in the derby were David Whitehead, Steve Fourcault, Chris Anderson and Billy Yarbrough.

Cougars honored

EDWARDSVILLE — Two members of the golf team at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville have been selected as honorable mentions on the NCAA Division I 1981 All-American team. Nominations were Bob Gaus of St. Louis and Jay Elhausen of Edwardsville.

Both men are sophomores and were members of the Cougar team which qualified for the NCAA Division II Championships May 22 at Hop Meadow Country Club, Simsbury, Conn. Elhausen had the lowest score of all individuals for one round in the tourney, scoring a 69 on the par 72 championship course the first day of the 72-hole competition.

GC girls fall; 4th in nation

Special to the Press-Record

DALLAS — The Granite City Soccer Club Under-19 year old girls soccer team lost here Sunday 5-2 to the entry from New York in the third place game at the United Youth Soccer Federation National Tournament at Franklin Field.

The Granite City girls, coached by Bob Kurilla, dropped into the consolation bracket game after losing to D'Feeters of Dallas 2-0 in a semifinal contest Saturday afternoon.

Dallas went on to win the National championship with a 1-0 double-overtime victory over FRAM from Los Angeles in the second game before nearly 3,000 fans.

In Sunday's game, Granite City got off to a 1-0 lead 10 minutes into the game, a goal by Jill Blodsoe. But the score was 5-1 before Terry Schuler scored. Granite City's only other goal, Granite City and New York each had 13 shots on goal. The Granite Cityans had six corner kicks, while New York had none.

In Saturday's loss to Dallas, the D'Feeters outshot Granite City 7-5, but trailed in corner kicks 5-2. The score was 1-0 until the final minutes of play when Granite City went to an all-out offensive attack to try and tie the game.

By virtue of their finish, the GCSC finishes fourth in the nation with a 33-5-4 record.
